58 U.S. Servicemen Die in Transport Crash

Plane Carrying Men Back To Viet Nam From Leave Falls in Hong Kong Bay

BY FORREST EDWARDS

HONG KONG (AP) — Fifty-eight U.S. servicemen, most of them Marines flying back to Viet Nam after leave, were feared dead today after their transport plane crashed into Hong Kong harbor just after taking off.

"Except for 13 known survivors it now appears all others aboard the flight are dead," said an American official on the scene.

Divers pulled two bodies from the torn and twisted wreckage and said they believed there were at least 20 still inside the fuselage.

Remove Wreckage

Two barge cranes lifted the wreckage seven and a half hours after the crash from 30 feet of water and began towing it to the British Royal Air Force dock for removal of the bodies.

Eyewitnesses said a 29-year-old Chinese barge foreman, Ng Kam-shing, and two other barge workers made two trips through burning oil in a small sampan to pull seven of the survivors from the water.

An operations officer at Hong Kong's Kaitai Airport said there were 71 persons aboard — 6 crewmen and 65 passengers — when the C130 Hercules took off for Da Nang and Saigon. He said the manifest indicated two were Navy men and the rest Marines.

Seven Missed Plane

He said seven other Marines were supposed to have made the flight but did not show up on time.

The Marines were returning to the Da Nang air base 380 miles north of Saigon after rest and relaxation leave in Hong Kong, a Marine Corps spokesman in Da Nang said.

The survivors were brought to Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Kowloon, across the bay from Hong Kong. Their identities were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Hospital officials said they were suffering from shock, burns and fractured limbs but that none appeared to be in critical condition.

Control Failure

Witnesses said the four-engine Hercules veered suddenly to the left after taking off and plunged into the water about 40 feet off an industrial suburb on Hong Kong Island.

"To me it looked as if it was either control failure or the pilot lost his No. 1 engine and possibly both his No. 1 and No. 2 engines," said C. J. Davis, secretary of the Hong Kong Aero Club who saw the crash.

Files Another Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath sentenced to life imprisonment in the 1954 slaying of his wife, appealed again today to the Supreme Court to review his trial.

Sheppard's new appeal contends that "pre-trial publicity so prejudiced the community that no fair and impartial jury could have been impaneled."

The filing of the new appeal permits Dr. Sheppard to remain at liberty pending final action by the high tribunal.

Federal Mediator Enters American Motors Dispute

1966 Rambler Production Stops As 11,000 Workers Leave Jobs

KENOSHA (AP) — A federal mediator joined efforts today to settle a United Auto Workers strike which has halted 1966 Rambler production at American Motors Corp. plants in both Kenosha and Milwaukee.

Pickets patrolled throughout the night at the two assembly plants here where more than 11,000 members of UAW Local 72 struck Monday morning. The walkout caused the shutdown of the American Motors body plant in Milwaukee just 45 minutes later.

Although there was no immediate announcement from management or union officials of further talks, the regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, C. K. Call, said both sides had agreed to meet with him to discuss resuming the negotiations.

100 Grievances

The negotiators had met around the clock Sunday and early Monday seeking a settlement of more than 100 pending union grievances before the strike deadline. A company spokesman said the major issue was disciplining of union officials.

There were no disturbances on the picket lines Monday and Kenosha police described the situation today as "peaceful and normal." Police said no extra patrols had been sent to the two assembly plants.

There was no definite indication of how long the strike would last. In Milwaukee, maintenance crews reportedly were instructed to coat unpainted 1966 bodies with rust preventative to guard against damage in a prolonged shutdown.

American Motors is Wisconsin's largest employer. Its Kenosha operation is the nation's largest automobile assembly operation under one roof.

The 11,000 workers set up their lines Monday with a good-natured air and cheered half a dozen youngsters who pedaled their bicycles past the plant gates while carrying picket signs.

The strike had been authorized in a membership vote Aug. 10.

Bloody Riots Continue in Korean City

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean government called in troops to disperse demonstrating crowds in Seoul today. Bloody clashes erupted for the second day between riot police and rock-hurling student demonstrators protesting the recent Japan-South Korea amity treaty.

About 9,000 battled police who tried to disperse them with tear gas and clubs.

Police said 526 persons were arrested, most of them college youths. They said 138 policemen were injured, five seriously. Scores of students were hurt.

The demonstrators demanded the treaty with Korea's former colonial ruler be scrapped and the National Assembly, which recently ratified it despite an opposition party boycott, be dissolved.

About 300 troops put a blanket of tear gas over a two-block-long street in western Seoul where nearly 3,000 students were demonstrating.

Johnson Urges House to Move On Home Rule

McCormack Says District of Columbia Is Breakfast Topic

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson urged House Democratic leaders today to do their utmost to pass this session of Congress legislation giving the District of Columbia home rule.

Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said the President stressed home rule legislation at his weekly breakfast meeting with Democratic congressional leaders.

McCormack reported that he promised to do everything he could to get a vote on the bill. The home rule bill is tied up in the House District Committee. An effort will begin today to get 218 signatures to a petition to take it away from the committee and bring it to a vote.

Would Sign

McCormack said he had always supported home rule for the national capital and would sign the petition. If this move is successful, McCormack said, he had no doubt there would be enough bipartisan votes in the House to pass it.

McCormack and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana both reported that Johnson was anxious for action on various administration measures before Congress quits. These include revision of immigration laws, highway beautification, higher education, a farm bill, vocational rehabilitation, and interest equalization legislation.

Senate Vote

Mansfield predicted Congress will adjourn around Labor Day, no later than mid-September.

If the petition to take the home rule bill from the committee is successful by Aug. 31, a vote may be reached by Sept. 13. The Senate passed the bill July 22 — the sixth time in 16 years it has voted to restore to Washington self-government taken away by Congress in 1874.

Won't Maneuver Spacecraft

It's Only a Paper Moon Astronauts Chase Today

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The cheerful Gemini 5 astronauts, a million miles of space travel behind them, aimed at more make-believe rendezvous exercises today to enhance the nation's effort to fly a man to the moon.

They won't actually maneuver their spacecraft as they did Monday in running down an imaginary satellite in a make-believe rendezvous. This time it will all be on paper.

All appeared "go" for space-

with an Agena rocket is considered an absolute necessity on a lunar mission.

The real thing — an actual docking — is slated for the two-day Gemini 6 flight in late October.

The astronauts got a "well done" from earth Monday for their 40,000-mile chase after a satellite that didn't exist.

Afterwards, flight officials reported that if the satellite had not been merely a ghost, the spacecraft would have been within 17 miles of it — or, at a point where it would be up to the crews' judgment and ability, rather than computers, to dock with it.

A rendezvous with a 76-pound radar-equipped pod was ditched earlier in the Gemini 5 flight after a power failure on the spacecraft.

Chipper and rested, the spacemen ate well and showed no signs of ill effects from their global trips, medical officers reported.

After using an exercise cord aboard the craft to help them keep in shape, their heart rates were almost identical to the rates after similar exercise on earth.

Fourth Day of Orbiting Okayed

men L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. to spend a full eight days on their voyage through the skies, giving the United States at least five world space flight records.

End 41st Orbit

They completed their 41st orbit at 2:14 a.m. (EST).

The ghost satellite chase brought the craft only to the point of preparing to dock.

Today's plan called for the astronauts to simulate on paper the parking and locking process without actually changing the orbit of their craft or firing their braking rockets.

Winnebago's Former Head Safe in Hawaii

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — A former Wisconsin psychiatrist and his young son — missing aboard a 24-foot trimaran — were spotted Monday by the crew of a Coast Guard plane about 35 miles northeast of Hilo, apparently in good condition.

An intensive air-sea search was launched earlier after Dr. Charles Belcher and his son, Eric, 12, failed to arrive as expected Sunday at Hilo, 200 miles southeast of Honolulu.

The Coast Guard crew which spotted the craft said it was "positively identified" as the overdue trimaran and "all occupants are apparently in good condition."

The father and son had left Kahului, Maui, 85 miles southeast of Honolulu, on Saturday.

Dr. Charles H. Belcher served as superintendent of the Winnebago State Hospital almost five years. He left May 29, 1964, to report to the Mental Health Clinic, Island of Hawaii.

A graduate of the University of Arkansas School of Medicine, 1953, Dr. Belcher served in V A hospitals in Boston and Murfreesboro, Tenn., before going to Southeast Louisiana State Hospital, Mandeville, La., as clinical director and later as superintendent. He came to the Winnebago State Hospital from this post.

Elderly Man 'Nabbed'

Deposit Slip Causes Alarm in Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph B. Finazzo had been making deposits at the Roosevelt Savings Bank in Brooklyn for years, but never before had he gotten as much attention as he got Monday.

When Finazzo, 74, a retired furrier, handed a deposit slip for $100 to the teller things began to happen.

The teller set off a silent alarm, a guard grabbed Finazzo and three police cars roared up to the bank and whisked him off to the station house.

Turned Loose

Officers quizzed the stocky, white-haired Finazzo for an hour, then with profuse apologies they turned him loose.

Finazzo had been the victim of a prank.

Written on the back of the deposit slip was: "This bottle contains acid. Deposit in brown paper bag bills of various denominations. Do not scream for help or you will get hurt."

A prankster apparently had written the threatening note on the slip, then carefully placed it back into the stack.

There it waited until Finazzo came into the bank at 10:30 a.m., made out his deposit and gave it to the teller, Patrik Antonelle, 19.

New Teller

Antonelle casually turned the slip over — and saw the message. It was his first day on the job, but he had been instructed how to handle such situations.

He pressed the alarm button and motioned to bank guard Gerald Dooley.

Finazzo was no stranger to the bank. He owns an apartment house and has a large savings account at the bank.

Johnson Administration Puts in Bid In Battle of Viet Nam White Papers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The resistance to subversion and battle of the Viet Nam "white papers" was joined today with the Johnson administration beating Republicans to the punch.

Last week House GOP leaders passed word they were issuing a white paper this Wednesday as a rebuttal to President Johnson's statements he is carrying out a commitment former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made to South Viet Nam in 1954.

But even as the Republicans were still stapling their manifesto together Monday, the White House was announcing distribution of a 27-page pamphlet called "Why Viet Nam," packed with speeches, letters and other documents.

Letters From Ike

The first section, entitled "The Roots of Commitment," focuses on three letters from Eisenhower and notes: "In letters to Prime Minister Churchill in 1954 and to President Diem of South Viet Nam in 1954 and 1960, President Eisenhower describes the issues at stake and pledges United States assistance in South Viet Nam's resistance to subversion and aggression."

A White House spokesman said Eisenhower had been informed last week of the outline and papers to be used in "Why Viet Nam."

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, chairman of the House Republican Planning and Research Committee which is turning out the Republican tract, didn't seem to mind the administration stealing some of the GOP thunder.

Put in Perspective

He said he hadn't seen "Why Viet Nam," but understood it to be "a valuable compilation of documents. Ours is interpretive. It puts them in perspective."

But there is still more thunder to be lost.

To unveil their "white paper" the House Republican leaders announced Monday they would hold a news conference Wednesday.

The White House announced Monday the President probably will hold a news conference Wednesday.

Despite the political currents, with congressional campaigning only a year away, the dispute has some of the atmosphere of an argument by historians.

For instance the title of the GOP paper sounds more academic than militant. It will be called, "Viet Nam: Some Neglected Aspects of the Historical Records."

The House Republicans certainly felt they had more than the makings of an academic dispute. After a meeting with GOP congressional leaders in Washington last Tuesday, Eisenhower remarked that his commitment to Viet Nam had not been military but economic.

The House leaders — who don't object to U.S. actions in Viet Nam, just to Johnson saying he is carrying out an Eisenhower commitment — then let it be known they had a white paper in the works.

But two days later Eisenhower took much of the steam out of the issue. He announced at a GOP gathering at his Gettysburg farm that he supported Johnson and that his commitment to Viet Nam was made a decade ago, when the situation was entirely different there.

GOP Wants to Put Limit on Immigration

Canadians, Other Hemisphere Natives Would Have Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans open a fight today to place a ceiling on immigration from Canada, Mexico and other Western Hemisphere nations.

They want the limit to be included in a bill which would make major changes in U.S. immigration policy. The House takes up the measure today, with a final vote expected Wednesday.

The bill, a key administration measure, would wipe out the 41-year-old national origins quota system that now applies to nations outside the Western Hemisphere. It bases immigration on the national origins of the U.S. population in 1920.

Waiting Lists

Under it, Western Europe gets most of the 138,161 visas authorized, with the other quota nations severely limited. The large quota countries rarely use all their numbers, while the low quota countries have long waiting lists for visas.

The bill, which had strong bipartisan backing in the Judiciary Committee, would replace the quota system with an overall ceiling of 170,000, under which the present quota countries would be treated equally. Each would be allowed a maximum of 20,000 visas a year, to be granted on a preference basis favoring close relatives of U.S. citizens.

Ceiling Needed

While they go along with scrapping the quota system, most House Republicans say a consistent immigration policy requires a ceiling on Western Hemisphere immigration, too.

Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., has the solid backing of GOP leaders for an amendment that would limit hemisphere immigration to 115,000 a year. It totaled 139,000 last year, and 147,000 the year before.

Rep. Michael A. Feighan, D-Ohio, chairman of the Immigration subcommittee, also favors a ceiling but deferred to the State Department and kept it out of the bill. Secretary of State Dean Rusk made a strong stand before the subcommittee against such action, saying it damages relations with hemisphere nations.

GOP Congressmen Jab Growing Debt

Byrnes, Laird, Thomson Protest Johnson's High Spending Plans

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Within the past few weeks, three Wisconsin Republican lawmakers have become consistent voices speaking against what they believe is a declared roller-coaster program in which the Johnson administration is not yet been approved by our plummeting the country deep into a "guns and butter" debt.

"The President apparently isn't satisfied with federal subsidies to take care of birth, food, shelter, jobs, health education and beauty, so he is going to try to make us all live forever," Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, observed tartly during an interview.

"Early this month, Mr. Johnson said that the country loses $32 billion a year in production because people die from heart disease, cancer and strokes. He also said, during a Rose Garden conference, that he was going to 'put a stop to that'."

How Stop Death

The congressman added that he was unable to determine just how Mr. Johnson would stop death, but commented that one thing was for sure: it would cost a lot of money.

In his position as top Republican on the House Ways and Means committee which must find ways to raise enough taxes to cover the cost of government programs, Byrnes has consistently warned the House of the dangers of deflating the dollar, and more recently, of debasing the coins by removing much of their valuable metallic content.

Another Wisconsin legislator, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, is a member of the House Appropriations Committee which handles all bills which approve the actual amount of the funds for operation of the government.

Over Budget Ceiling

Predicting that "when the American taxpayer finally gets the bill for the current fiscal year for financing operations in Viet Nam, it will come to at least $6 billion, and push the total budget 'well over the $100 billion ceiling," Laird said "it should be obvious that the

AEC Works Bill Awaits Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to provide $4.3 billion for the Atomic Energy Commission, and a variety of public works awaits compromise on some $86 million differences between the Senate and House versions.

The Senate passed the big bill Monday without a roll call. Its total was $4,327,589,000—or $85,952,500 above the total in the House draft.

Most of the appropriation is for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Youth Job Expert Sees Bright Future

More Teen-Agers, Fewer Openings Blamed for Slump

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A bright tomorrow but a dark today was described by an expert on youth employment Monday.

Persons in the 16-21 age group are in a "national depression," said Harry Kranz, assistant administrator for manpower operations of the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security.

Kranz cited a 14 per cent unemployment rate in the age bracket.

He blamed it on two factors, a population explosion reflected currently in teen-agers and a reduced number of unskilled jobs available. The unemployment pinch is most severe, he said, among married teen-agers.

Be Prepared

But he added there is a "bright tomorrow for those prepared to take advantage of it." Kranz urged teen-agers to continue both formal and vocational education efforts.

He spoke to teen-agers at a forum sponsored by the Milwaukee Sentinel Green Bay Packers quarterback Bart Starr told the youths, "Attitude is the most important secret to success," and added:

"If you are dedicated and have a sincere, burning desire to get someplace, you'll get there. If you don't, you won't."

LBJ Expects to Confer With Press Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to hold a news conference Wednesday, Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Monday the conference is likely, but no time has been set. He said it would be open to radio and television broadcast.

on the eve of the start of 1966 model production Richard C. Thiel, president of Local 72, said 98 per cent of the members backed the strike.

Thiel, who had said earlier the pending grievances chiefly involved production standards, commented Monday, "We still feel it is unwise to publicly debate the issues."

But Edward L. Cushman, vice president of American Motors, said the primary specific demand by the union concerned chief steward Larry Wright who he said, "was discharged in May for repeated cases of insubordination, including instigation of unauthorized work stoppages and countermanding a foreman order."

Issued Statement

Cushman issued a statement saying, "The fundamental issues are union demands to give union officials vote power over supervision authority, make union officials immune from discipline even for improper conduct, and prevent management from making changes despite contracted rights."

The assembly line halt led to an almost immediate shutdown of the Milwaukee plant which channels car bodies into the plants here.

Of the 5,881 workers at the body plant, the company sent 5,000 home indefinitely. The rest were kept for maintenance duty.

A spokesman for the Wisconsin Employment Service said the workers idled at Milwaukee would not be eligible for unemployment compensation.

Auto Production Hits '65 Low

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto production was expected to hit its low point of the year this week as virtually all General Motors plants were closed because of model changeover while American Motors' output was hit by labor troubles.

Buick was the only GM Division in limited production as output of Riviera will start on Wednesday. GM finished work on its 1965 model run last week and will not be in full production until after Labor Day.

The last 1965 models rolled off assembly lines last week with the model year winding up with a record output of 8,850,213 cars. This was about 12 per cent over the old high of 7,880,845 set in 1964.

Policeman Finds Haunted House in New England Town

GUILFORD, Conn. (AP) — Patrolman Nicholas Heery, sent to investigate reports of ghostly doings at a deserted farm house, opened the front door and a strange figure swooped at him, knife in hand.

I opened the door twice, and both times the knife went into the door frame," Heery said.

The figure was a dummy, one of several in the house. All were made from sheets rigged on wires strung to make the dummies plunge down stairs and lunge through doorways.

Somebody spent a lot of time on that house," Heery said. "It was fascinating to see."

The report of strange happenings came from Frederick Bennett, the owner, after he had stopped by the old house to see if vandals had damaged it.

Bennett, who owns a fuel oil business in Guilford, found a mannequin lying in state in the living room, a booby trapped kitchen and one bedroom rigged so that a person outside could pull wires to raise the lid of a chest, lift the sheet off the lid and jangle the bedsprings.

Bennett and Heery agreed that the haunting was probably the work of ingenious youngsters.

Showdown Today

U. S. Aid Compromise Faces Test in Senate

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP) — The compromise foreign aid authorization bill faces a final showdown vote today in the Senate.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., asked for rejection of the one-year $3.36-billion bill. He said it would be a vehicle for "another year of blank-check" spending by the foreign aid agency and the State and Defense departments "for whatever purposes they see fit."

The measure passed by the House last week had been stripped in a Senate-House conference committee of two key amendments previously voted by the Senate.

Two Years

One would have authorized the program for two years. The other, by Morse, would have terminated the program in its present form at the end of two years and initiated a congressional investigation to chart a revamped program for the future.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., in what he called a reluctant plea for passage Monday, said Senate conferees had yielded only after 11 Senate-House meetings extending over two months.

House conferees, in exchange, agreed to consider a multiview authorization next year, to urge the administration to restudy foreign aid, and to undertake studies of their own.

Fulbright, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman, said he felt a thorough review of

45 Feared Drowned Off Philippine Island

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine constabulary reported today that 45 persons were feared drowned in the capsizing of a ferry off Samar Island.

Newspaper reports said the dead and missing totaled about 65.

The small ferry turned over Monday afternoon about 400 yards from the landing at Catabogan.

There were about 150 passengers aboard at the time, according to the report received at constabulary headquarters.

State Fair Profit About $460,000

Gross Receipts, Earnings Show Rise From '64 Exposition

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The 115th annual Wisconsin State Fair has wound up with the most fertile harvest on record in recent years of that popular green crop—money.

Fair Administrator Willard Masterson said Monday the fair grossed nearly $1.4 million, with profits estimated at $461,845.

Earnings were up $134,515 from 1964 while the gross represented an increase of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Masterson called both income and profits the best within memory.

Record Crowds

The record crowds for the 10-day run, fixed officially at 933,004, plus a hike in the admission fees to $1 for adults and 50 cents for children instead of a quarter for each as in the past, accounted for the bulk of the cash.

Masterson said admission fees brought in $581,247, up about $130,000.

Other chief revenue sources included midway, $169,000; rental of exhibition space, $160,000; grandstand shows, $158,000; state-operated concessions, $145,000, and auto racing, $84,000.

But while income rose, so did expenses. Masterson placed costs at $928,229, also a high for recent years. The biggest factors were a $225,000 payroll and $175,000 in maintenance and groundskeeping expenses.

One category did drop. In contrast to the 225 lost children reported last year, there were only 224 this year.

Protesting Soldier Still In Stockade

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — The Army said Monday that Pvt. Winstel Belton, whose unit was shipped out to Viet Nam for combat duty while he maintained a hunger strike, is still what the guerrillas ate.

The bill provides $1,170,000,000 in military assistance, the remainder in economic aid, including loans and grants. It earmarks $89 million to launch President Johnson's program for the economic and social development of Southeast Asia.

Its passage will clear the way for another fight on an appropriations bill to provide the actual money for which the authorization legislation simply sets ceilings.

Viet Nam Protests Hurt Morale, Soldier Says

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — An Army sergeant who escaped from Viet Cong captivity says peace marches protesting American involvement in Viet Nam are hurting the morale of U.S. troops.

Sgt. 1. C. Isaac Camacho said he is disgusted with protest actions of "some Americans" against President Johnson's commitment in Viet Nam.

"These people are very disheartening to the troops who are facing death over there today," said Camacho.

Fumes Force 3,000 From Their Homes

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Some 3,000 persons were evacuated from their homes early today when dangerous chemical fumes blanketed a four-square-mile area after a general alarm fire broke out at a chemical plant.

Police said oxygen was administered to 300 persons who inhaled the fumes. No serious injuries were reported.

Police and firemen pounded on doors and used loudspeakers to rouse the residents. The residents were sheltered in schools and fire houses throughout the city.

They returned home nearly 4½ hours after they were evacuated.

The fire began in a small storage trailer containing organic peroxide, used in making plastics. The trailer was located behind the plant of the Chemirad Company. Cause of the fire was undetermined. The blaze was confined to the trailer.

Publishers Asked To Help Attract Business to State

MUKWONAGO (AP) — Newspaper publishers were asked Monday to stress the better aspects of Wisconsin and aid in attracting more business to the state.

Harold Groh, chairman of the Governor's Economic Development Committee, and Paul Pratt, state director of resource development, carried the request to the summer convention of the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League.

Groh said everybody should "quit talking about the things that are bad in Wisconsin—talk about the good things."

Groh, who is president of Wisconsin Telephone Co., described economic development as non-partisan and encompassing all walks of life.

Pratt said each community should have its own area development association, or at least a development group in the local Chamber of Commerce.

Camacho was wounded and should have its own area development association, or at least a development group in the local Chamber of Commerce.

Camacho's cell was in a wooden hut hidden in the jungles of South Viet Nam. He said he saw little of actual guerrilla operations.

Camacho was wounded and captured Nov. 25, 1963 when several hundred Viet Cong overran a camp 25 miles northwest of Saigon. His head wound merced.

Camacho said "good" treatment by the Viet Cong included three meals of rice daily, supplemented occasionally by meat and wild roots.

Same Food
This diet, he said, was about what the guerrillas ate.

Bad treatment consisted of forceful interrogations and "brain washing," the career serviceman said. He said he was not beaten.

Your Money's Worth

Chief Finance Officer's Profile Under Scrutiny

BY SYLVIA PORTER

What are the key characteristics and functions of the men who manage the money of our giant corporations? What activities consume their time, what is their educational background, how old are they, how long do they stay at the top?

Heidrick & Struggles, one of the nation's oldest and largest

Porter

A solid education including a graduate degree is clearly becoming an essential for rising to the top in finance.

Fairly Mobile

He has worked for two or more companies, has been more mobile than his company's president. Still, a full 26 per cent of the chief financial officers of our big companies have never worked for any one company except their present one. Only a tiny fraction of one per cent have jumped around—worked for seven or more companies. The immobility is greatest among the 50 largest utility and 50 largest merchandising corporations.

He has risen through the ranks to his top post and typically began in an accounting or clerical position.

Finally, he is a director of his own company—sitting in on all policy decisions—and also a director of one or more other companies. His influence, in short, extends beyond his own concern to other corporations. This is just one more proof that there is a power elite in U.S. business and finance.

So there he is. What does this profile say to you if you are planning or developing your career, are interested in finance, want to rise to the top?

First, get your college education and work for a master's too. Second, join a big company and be ready to start at the bottom in the financial division.

Third, learn all you can about financial public relations, for here is a gap waiting to be filled. You might specialize in this sphere within a sphere and create a top job on its own for yourself.

Public Relations

As Chief financial officer, it's logical that managing money should consume most of his time—but here's a shocker. Listed as the second most time-consuming function is "financial public relations"—meaning "projecting a favorable image to investment groups, press and public generally." Admittedly, a "favorite image" is important but I submit that someone outside of the top financial officers should be fulfilling this function. H & S apparently thinks so too for it observes that this finding "indicates a dearth of competent financial public relations specialists."

He makes money as well as manages it. Nearly three in five earn over $50,000 and better than one in five of the financial men in the largest companies (an annual volume of $350,000,000 or more) earns over $100,000. In addition, he has plenty of fringe benefits, particularly in the form of stock options. This man is distinctly tied into top management.

Chief Finance 2 30

He has at least a college degree—most likely from the University of Pennsylvania, California, Illinois or Yale. An overwhelming 79.7 per cent are college graduates and among the 50 largest life insurance companies, the proportion climbs to 86.1 per cent. An impressive percentage also have a master's degree from Harvard.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, August 24th, the 236th day of 1965. There are 129 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1814, British troops burned the Capitol, White House and public buildings in Washington after defeating disorganized defending forces at nearby Bladensburg. Other public buildings were set afire the next morning.

On this date—

In 1867, Johns Hopkins University was chartered at Baltimore.

In 1891, Thomas Edison applied for a patent on a camera to make moving pictures.

In 1912, Congress authorized the parcel post service.

In 1949, former Attorney General Tom Clark took his oath as Supreme Court Justice.

In 1954, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed the Communist Control Act.

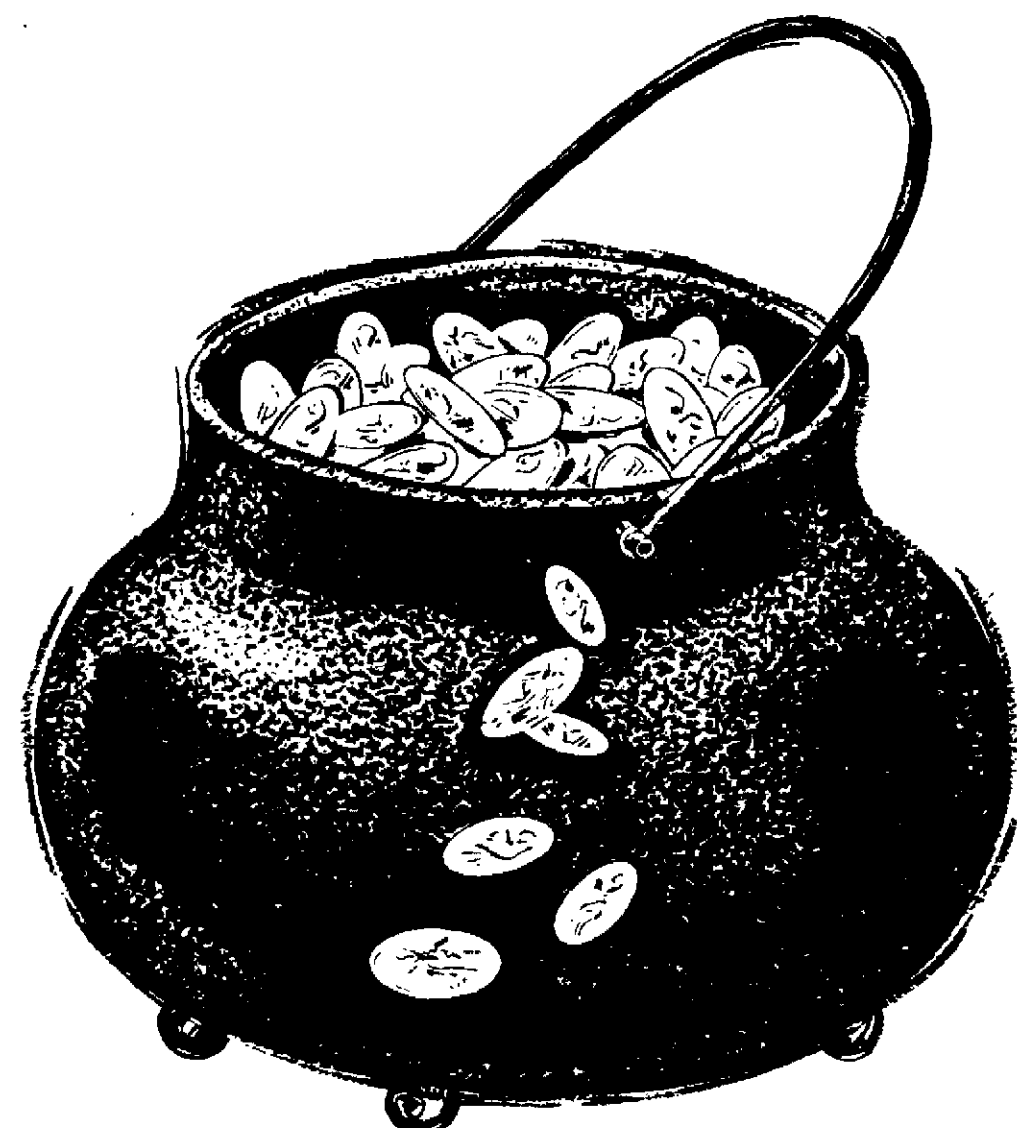

Ten years ago—Egypt withdrew from talks with Israel on means of easing tension on Gaza border.

Five years ago—East Germany reported the arrest of 147 persons, most of them East Germans charged with being members of a United States spy ring.

One year ago—The South Viet Nam government yielded to student demands and relaxed some authorization rules.

Your Problems

Neighbors Don't Need Pictures To Draw Nasty Conclusions

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm building we ride downtown a respectable, self-supporting career girl over 25 (and under 30) who lives alone in a cozy little apartment. I've been getting some chilly looks from the neighbors lately. Obviously they've gotten the wrong impression from seeing us leave the apartment together in the morning. When I mentioned this to Billy he said they are evil-minded and so long as they haven't any pictures they can't prove anything. What is your opinion?—Madeline

Dear Mad: Pictures they should have yet? Sorry, but that's not the way life works. People don't need pictures to draw conclusions. It's your reputation that's on the block, not Billy's. If you are concerned about what your neighbors think you'd better cook your own breakfast, Toots.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been going with a very fine young man for several months. I'll call him Gilbert although that is not his real name. I'd like your opinion on whether my mother is right or wrong in her criticism of him. Gilbert had dinner with our family last night and we all got along well, as usual. After he left my mother said, "Gilbert is such a fine boy, it's too bad he doesn't have better manners." I asked her what she meant by that. Mother answered, "when you sneezed he didn't say 'God bless you.'"

I had never thought of it as a matter of manners. My mother insists that people who are well brought up never fail to say "God bless you" when someone dear to them sneezes. Is she right or wrong?—In Doubt

Dear In: She's wrong. The practice of blessing sneezers reaches far back into history. Its origins lie in superstition. Whether or not a person says "Gesundheit" has nothing to do with manners—it's a habit usually picked up at an early age. If you'd like Gilbert to acquire the habit, simply tell him. I'm an old Gesundheits from way back because that's the way it was in our family.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has a niece who will be 14 years old in November. Rita is our godchild and since we have no children of our own we feel especially close to her. We remember Rita with a birthday gift every year. We also send her a Christmas gift and something for Easter. When she was confirmed we gave her a check for her college fund. The girl has yet to drop us a line or make a telephone call to say "Thank you." When we come to her house her mother gives her a poke in the ribs and Rita blurts out, "Thanks for the present." I've told my husband I think it's terrible. He says she is too young to know better. What do you say?—Aunt A.

Dear Aunt A: Rita's mother is nudging her several years too late. Children should be taught to acknowledge gifts as soon as they learn to speak and write. If you want to do Rita a favor sit down with her and tell her what her mother should have told her years ago.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits—the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Sex—Ten Ways to Cool it." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1965)

Girls Unit Has Charm Course

The Junior Girls Unit of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, Appleton, held its monthly meeting Aug. 14 at the VFW clubhouse. Miss Sharon Johnson reported on plans for the state conference scheduled for Appleton, Oct. 9. A six week charm course, sponsored by the auxiliary began Saturday. The six sessions will cover diet, sleep and exercise; skin care; make-up; fragrance, grooming and manners; hair care, and modeling and poise. Mrs. Daryl Nutting, of the city recreational dance school, was first guest instructor for the course in which 25 girls are registered. Committee for the charm course is composed of Mrs. LeRoy Ruwoldt, Mrs. Richard Hendricks, Mrs. Glen Schwerke, Mrs. John Steenis and Mrs. Paul Volpe.

Modernize Bath

For an up-to-date bathroom decorating effect, try using a medley of ceramic tile colors. Small, unglazed mosaic tile is perfect for this purpose, and several different color tiles may be used in random fashion to give an attractive, easy-to-care-for floor. Walls may be of one color in the larger four-inch glazed tile size. One advantage of using the color medley on the floor is that it permits a wide range of color for towels and accessories.

The "Teen Twirlers" invited adult square dancers in the area to join them for dancing Aug. 17 at the Combined Locks Pavilion. A pie potluck was held after dancing.

The youth square dance club has been organized for the past three years, dancing bi-weekly. The group will represent the Fox River Valley when it appears in an exhibition number, "Doing the Town on Saturday Night," at the seventh annual Wisconsin Square Dance Convention to be held at the Brown County Arena, Green Bay, Friday through Sunday. Their performance is set for Saturday evening.

Members are from Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, New London, Kimberly, Combined Locks, Little Chute, Kaukauna, Freedom and Green Bay.

Serving as adult advisors are Mrs. Milton Piepkorn, Little Chute, Mrs. Joseph Loberger, Appleton, Mrs. Robert Wanless, Green Bay, and Mrs. Lyle Leatherman, Menasha.

Committee members for the recent party were Miss Mary Jane Last, Kimberly, chairman; Miss Mary Loberger, Appleton, vice chairman, and Tom Vanderpool, Appleton, secretary-treasurer.

Taking Time for a Soft Drink and visiting are Sue Glasheen and Gary Behling, Kimberly, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Andress, Hugo Dobberstein and Russell

Krueger, all of Appleton. The area adult square dancers were guests of the "Teen Twirlers" at the party at the Combined Locks Pavilion.

Some Fabrics Fire Proofed for Safety

Medical authorities are concerned with the burns resulting from fabrics that have been ignited by cigarettes or accidents. Fabrics don't burn unless they've been touched with fire but rather than flame some do melt or drip and cause bad out further treatment. New flame retardants are being applied to cotton and rayon fabrics, especially those that will be used in hospitals, hotels and other public buildings. Of course, some fibers have built-in fireproofing with- burnings. Three families of fibers are considered flame or fire proof. Glass fibers, saran and modacrylics. In the natural fibers the most considered the most flame retardant. Both saran and glass are more apt to be used in home furnishings than for garments. In the modacrylics there are two brands and each seems to have its special uses. One of the brands, Dynel, was used by the navy during the war for blanketess. Some years later they were made for the civilian market and many families have been using their Dynel blankets for at least ten years. If Dynel is put in flame it just chars, keeping the same shape and goes out. It won't melt or drip in beads to cause serious acid burns nor will it ignite by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. Hildebrand, Ames, Iowa. He is the son of Mrs. Don G. Anderson, 2302 N. Rankin St., and the late Mr. Anderson. Miss Hildebrand was graduated from Iowa State University. Altrusa Club Endorses New Service Policy

The Appleton Altrusa Club has endorsed "Open Doors to Service" as its program for the year. The five goals stress leadership development in local clubs, better understanding of people from other countries, more responsible citizenship in our country, expansion of job opportunities for women of all ages, and recommendation of qualified women for international leadership.

Mrs. Thomas Davis, president of Altrusa, and Miss Genevieve Mortell, immediate past president, will serve as delegates to the district convention at Burlington, Iowa. Alternates named were Mrs. Leonard Smith and Miss Marie Biese.

Mrs. George Hoffer, governor of District 7, reported on the Altrusa International Convention, held at Dallas, Texas, for the annual club picnic program Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Doerflinger. Other delegates to the meeting were Miss Marie Byrne and Miss Mortell.

Big Information Source In Child Care Is Relatives

MADSON — Most people who have children like to talk about them, and it's no exception among women who attend child care and family living meetings sponsored by county organizations. But there are some differences in the attitude about child care depending on the women's background in child study groups. This is the conclusion of Miss Helen Dawe and Miss Kimbala Sirut, University of Wisconsin child development specialists. They studied the influence of child study groups in four Wisconsin counties, two which had high participation in child study groups and two which had low participation.

They found, for example, that the greatest source of information in child care was relatives, friends, or colleagues, and it didn't make any difference whether the women lived in counties with high or low interest in child study. In counties with high participation in child study, there was a greater dependence on professional aid as a source of child care information. A less important source of child care information was newspapers, magazines, radio and television. But there was no difference in the high and low counties in using this source of information.

Teen Tresses

Answer this, Miss Teen: Do the professionals on how to polish up your locks? Here goes:

Brush

—Brush 50 strokes, night and morning. For top results, lean over and dangle your head.

—Shampoo before you need to, being sure to use a wash that suits your hair type—dry, oily, flaked with dandruff. Finish with a clear, sparkle after-rinse. If you use a tinted rinse, keep it natural. Very!

—Go to a hairdresser for cuts and trims. Costs come back in flattery and manageability.

—If there's a need, have a permanent for body or curl. Choose waves designed to bolster young hair and hairdo's.

—Make the most of grooming aids: Before donning a tight dress, cap head in a net or shower cap; polish dry hair with pomade, control oiliness with strokes of a brush slipcovered in a discarded nylon; on date nights "lock" your set in place with holding spray; to cover emergencies, keep a stock with just three small cards in of bows and barrettes. C'est tout, as they say in French—ruffing value. If partner opened with one spade you would raise to two spades.

Low Card May Not be Key Signal

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In many defensive situations, you play a higher card than necessary to encourage your partner to lead that suit. You play low to show no interest in the suit. Make allowance, however, for the times that your partner is dealt such awkward cards that he cannot afford to signal.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and looked suspiciously at South's queen. It was possible that West had led the singleton deuce of diamonds and that South was dropping the queen to deceive East.

Hoping to clear the situation up, East led the ace of spades. As it happened, West didn't think he could afford to signal with the king or queen of spades; this would cost a trick unless East had the jack of spades.

When West dropped the deuce of spades (with some inward misgiving), East regarded this as a discouraging signal and switched back to diamonds. South gratefully took the trick, drew trumps and ran the clubs to get rid of his spades.

Poor Idea

It was a poor idea to suspect South of having length in diamonds. Even if South had started with four diamonds he might have dropped the jack or the king rather than the queen. It was far more likely that South's play at the first trick was "honest" and that the defenders needed spade tricks.

East should lead a low spade at the second trick in case West started with K-x of spades. East could then win the second spade and give his partner a spade ruff.

When East did lead the ace of spades he should have continued the suit no matter what his partner played. The situation would be the same if West started with K-10-2; West would play the deuce rather than try to signal encouragement.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S K Q 2 H 7 6 3 D J 4 2 C 9 8 6 2. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one notrump. You can afford a response with date nights "lock" your set in place with holding spray; to cover emergencies, keep a stock with just three small cards in of bows and barrettes. C'est tout, as they say in French—ruffing value. If partner opened with one spade you would raise to two spades.

WARNING CARPET BUYERS!

Beware of Nation-Wide Rug Sales Racket!

City after city is being invaded by smooth-talking telephone soliciting carpet salesmen and saleswomen bilking the innocent public out of millions of dollars annually. Salesmen usually operate in one location only, until forced out by court orders, or the Better Business Bureau, or local organizations.

The Consumer Division headed by Ray R. Pytel, Supervisor of Consumer and Trade Practice Section, Madison, warns the public against fraud and deception in carpet sales, with over 800 complaints of fraudulent carpet telephone solicitations received in less than a year.

- Mr. Pytel advises:
1. GO TO A LOCAL, ESTABLISHED, RELIABLE DEALER. Beware of telephone solicitations or door-to-door salesmen, or other types of no-address stores.
 2. DON'T BE MISLED by offers of something for nothing, commercial carpets, free gifts, or other fantastic price cuts and "bait" offers.
 3. IF YOU DON'T KNOW YOUR CARPET, KNOW YOUR DEALER. Deal only with retailers with a known unquestionable reputation.
 4. DON'T BE RUSHED by "last chance" or "this is a remnant left over from a 'commercial' installation." Take your time, compare the product and the price. A reputable dealer wants you to be satisfied.
 5. IF YOU DON'T KNOW YOUR STATE CONSUMER PROTECTION LAWS and regulations, contact one of the reputable dealers listed below.
 6. IF YOU FEEL THAT YOU HAVE BEEN DEFRAUDED IN CARPET PURCHASES, as over 800 other people in the state feel they have been recently write: Ray R. Pytel, Investigator in Charge, State Trade Practices Section, 4812 Sheboygan Ave., Hill Farm Bldg. "B", Madison, Wis.

Working Mom Faces Chaos When She Returns to Home

BY DR. EVE JONES
Dear Dr. Jones: My four children, 6½, 5½, 4, and 2½, seem to be getting out of our control. Their behavior makes it necessary for us to give them many more spankings and scoldings than they should get. It's really bad on the days when I go to work—when I come home and start scolding and punishing, it seems as if I'm some kind of a monster. There I am, gone all day and not able to spend as much time with them as I should, and yet it's chaos when I come home.

but I can't seem to keep any control over them for any length of time. If you could tell me exactly how to reason with them, because I work, but I only work you work understands this, she may not strike them, either. Then, stop the reasoning. Your children are probably bothered and bored by your couldn't care less why you "talks." They're many years work—the only thing that mat-too young to be reasonable and ters to them is how they're logical. Instead, keep watch over them, tell them in advance what you will not permit and substitute while you're at work, what you want them to do. Improve matters immediately by vowing that you will never again strike them as punish- man in a factory, not like a straw boss on a chain gang. If you aren't expecting too much of them and if they have enough freedom to do what they want on their own, so long as it isn't something naughty, they'll soon become better behaved and more cooperative.

Governor's Task Force Surveying State Government Spending Policy

MADISON — Structural reorganization of the State Conservation Department and high praise for the Department of Agriculture were contained in two reports released here Tuesday by the task force studying state government expenditure management.

Composed of businessmen serving in a voluntary study of the state government, the group is headed by William R. Kellett, Neenah, retired president of Kimberly-Clark Corp. Gov.

Warren Knowles named the task force Feb. 26.

Only nominal dollar savings were contained in the two reports. The task force said the Conservation Department could save $212,000 in manpower through reorganization. But better service and a higher rate of efficiency are also envisioned in conservation with the implementation of the task force's analysis.

Increase Total Revenue

If its recommendations are adopted, the task force reported, the two departments can increase total revenue by $410,000. The report stated this can be accomplished by increasing license fees to cover the cost of the feed registration program administered by the Department of Agriculture and increasing license fees to cover the cost of the Conservation Department's pheasant and trout programs.

According to the report, the task force recommendations for conservation and agriculture, if adopted, will mean the combination of additional revenue and savings can amount to $622,000. The Department of Agriculture report, presented by James Bergsneider of Northwestern Mutual, recommended that businessmen themselves could profit from observation of the policies and operations of the department. It called the department "well-managed," with an alert, resourceful staff and said "there are numerous instances where normally self-perpetuating growth has been arrested through consolidation of staff functions."

Called For Reorganizing
The conservation study, presented by Hal C. Kuehl of the First Wisconsin National Bank, called for reorganizing the local area offices under two area managers in place of the present six area supervisors in

4 New Teachers At Kaukauna Catholic School

542 Pupils Expected When Classes Start Sept. 2 at St. Mary's

KAUKAUNA—Four new teachers will be on the staff of St. Mary's School when school opens Sept. 2, according to Sister Henrianna, principal.

New classroom teachers will be Sister Theophane and Sister Dominica, both replacing other nuns, while Sister Ambrosine will be the new music instructor and Sister Fides will handle a course in remedial reading. The staff this year numbers 15 compared to 18 last year.

Less teachers are needed as the number of students has decreased from 702 to 542. Main reason for the decrease was the opening of all grades at St. Aloysius parish whereas formerly lower grade students from that parish attended St. Mary's.

Upper Grades Return

Seventh and eighth grade students who last year received instructions at St. Aloysius will return to St. Mary's, giving the parish grades two through eight rather than two through six. Seventh and eighth graders will change classes after each period rather than having the teachers change classes as was done previously.

No new construction was undertaken during the year. School officials anticipate a relatively constant enrollment for future years as the parish has little area for additional residential growth. The major growth area will be served by St. Aloysius.

The school will follow the diocesan schedule which calls for classes to begin Sept. 2, teacher convention on Sept. 21, initial parent-teacher conferences Nov. 5, Thanksgiving recess Nov. 25 and 26, Christmas recess from Dec. 22 to Jan. 5, second parent-teacher conferences Jan. 21, Easter recess from April 7 through 11 and closing of school June 3.

Appleton Youth Tells Of Choice in Deciding Which Car to Steal

A 17-year-old Appleton youth arrested by police on suspicion of car theft, has told police he had a choice of four cars to steal Monday night but had to take one with an automatic shift. The youth said all four of the cars had keys in the ignition.

The youth was arrested shortly after he abandoned the car in a no parking zone at N. Richmond Street and W. Wisconsin Avenue. The car had been taken from the 500 block of W. College Avenue and 20 to 34 may make reservations driven to Neenah, Menasha and Fremont before it was abandoned shortly before midnight.

Water Storage Tanks for New School Buckle

Water storage tanks for the heating-cooling system at the new Einstein Junior High School have buckled due to lack of adequate support, the board of education was informed Monday evening.

A representative of Peterson Co., Madison, distributor, felt that the best way to remedy the damage would be to heat the damaged areas and pound out the dents. He said that the bottom of the tanks would not be damaged because they are made of soft, or mild, steel. Robert Sauter of Sauter-Seaborn, architects, said that two larger saddles would be placed underneath the tanks which would distribute the load over a broader area.

The board felt that the board of public works as well as the insurance company should be contacted before a decision could be reached.

Appleton Area Nurses Invited to Tour Base

Registered nurses in the Appleton area may tour K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Marquette, Mich., Sept. 14 and 15. A special Air Force bus will leave Appleton at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 14 for the base, where the nurses will spend the night. On Sept. 15 they will tour the base and medical facilities to observe the duties of an Air Force nurse.

Single registered nurses ages 20 to 34 may make reservations by contacting Sgt. Dean Lacore, 420 E. Summer St., or telephoning RE 4-7020.

Architect Submits Plan, Cost Details for Huntley Addition

Kaukauna Firm Costs $200,000 Plant Addition

Giddings, Lewis Will Increase Cast Iron Production Capacity

KAUKAUNA — Construction totaling more than $200,000 has been started by Giddings and Lewis Machine Tool Co. at its plant here.

Two plant improvements will cost more than $100,000 each, company officials estimate.

Cast iron production capacity at the plant will be increased by 25 per cent with an 80 by 140 foot addition.

A 60 by 60 foot single story addition will house office and locker room space. It will be built of concrete block and steel at the northeast corner of the main production plant.

The expansion was designed by company engineers. Oudenhoeven Construction Co., Kaukauna, is doing the construction work.

Office Building
A 72 by 80 foot office building is being constructed to house the firm's engineering, industrial relation and production offices. It will be a steel and masonry two-story air-conditioned structure.

Offices now in use will be converted to production facilities once the new building is complete. Frank Zeise Construction Co. is the contractor, while Nichols and Brummel, Green Bay, designed the structure.

Company officials hope to move into the new buildings late in 1965 or early in 1966.

Plant improvement and modernization at Fond du Lac is costing another $550,000.

In the last 10 years, Giddings and Lewis has spent more than $12 million domestically for expansion and modernization.

Half-Finished House Burns

Damage Extensive On Second Floor of Appleton Residence

Appleton firemen were called to the Gordon Kirk residence, 1532 Hall Ave., at 3:54 p.m. Monday when a fire broke out on the second floor of the partially completed house.

Most of the upstairs area was extensively damaged by the fire, including clothing and furniture. The ceiling and first floor were damaged by water which seeped through the unfinished upstairs floor.

The fire was discovered by one of Kirk's daughters.

The family had been living in the upstairs area while Kirk was finishing the construction work inside.

Firemen are investigating the cause of the blaze.

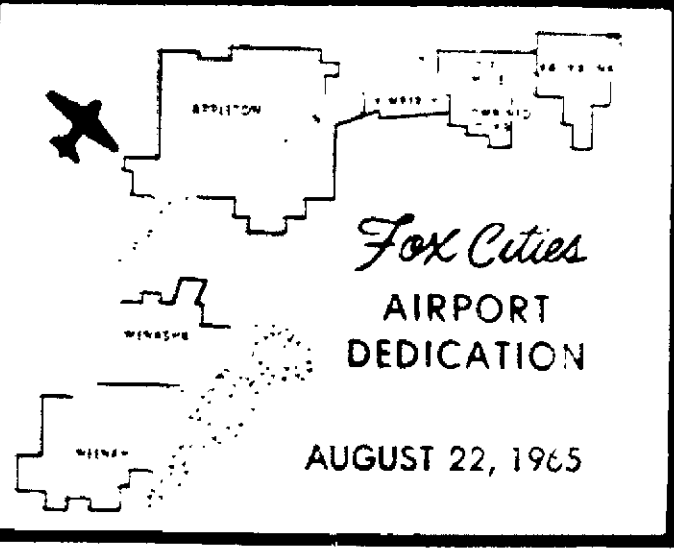

2 Youths, 2 Adults Being Questioned On 9 Break-ins

Two juveniles and two adults are being held by Outagamie County sheriff department authorities in connection with nine break-ins indicated

Names of the individuals are being withheld until charges are filed against them. The juveniles, one 16 and one 17, will be processed through juvenile authorities.

Sheriff Lt. Russell Bowers said the four have signed statements outlining their parts in break-ins to the Mac's Landing, Hortonville, the Port-lite Bar, Shroton, the Shroton Feed Mill, the Bear Creek Feed Mill, Prown's Liquor Store, New London, a service station near Readfield, a feed mill north of Readfield, and the Circus Inn, Waupaca.

Bowers said there has been no determination of how much money and merchandise was taken in the series of break-ins. The four being held in the Outagamie County Jail are from the New London, Dale and Medina area.

Irregular Gain Shown on Wall Street

Blue Chip Advances Help Bolster Market After Slight Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed an irregular gain early this afternoon in slack trading.

Scattered gains by blue chips helped buck up the over-all market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 5 at 330.5 with industrials up 4, rails up 2 and utilities up 4.

Brokers said the list was making a mild technical recovery after three straight days of decline.

The background of business news was fairly encouraging and it included a report that machine tool orders in July were 12 per cent above a year ago.

Selective Strength
Selective strength was displayed among chemicals, electrical equipments, electronics, rails and office equipments but the rise on balance was very slight.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.37 at 888.44.

The averages were helped by General Electric's rise of a point and Du Pont's gain of a point and a half.

IBM made a new high as it advanced more than 4. Polaroid gained 2, Xerox more than a point.

Refining Sank
Atlantic Refining was delayed in opening and sank 3 points on news that the company had called for redemption of its convertible debentures.

KLM was sold heavily at the start, losing well over a point after the New York Stock Exchange banned stop orders in the issue, but it cut its loss to a fraction in later dealings. Stop orders are orders placed in advance to buy or sell when a stock reaches a certain price.

Chicago & North Western, up nearly 2, was a bright spot in a scrambled rail section.

Fairchild Camera, which received a $15 million contract from Grumman, rose more than a point.

Prices were generally higher in quiet trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds continued to edge downward.

Lucey Praises Foresight in Regional Cooperation Bill

Menasha Aldermen Told How Legislation to Work, Advantages

MENASHA — The pioneering opportunity for joint governmental participating by cities, of the Fox Valley Regional towns, villages, counties and Planning Commission brought other municipalities in regional about passage of the assembly projects and activities. This sponsored joint municipal accomplishment has generally been overlooked in discussions of the legislature's record," he said.

"The 1965 legislature has opened the way for a significant improvement in the operations of local government," Lucey said. "Bill 1A expands the Steffens told aldermen that when he was in the assembly state officials often got together socially to visit and found problems a lot easier to work out. Tonight, Steffens said, if we hear about the problems at Madison we find they are the same as ours, only glorified and statewide.

Steffens told of how, as state Veteran of Foreign Wars Commander in 1947, he named Lucey deputy state commander.

In the legislature Steffens was called, contrary to the usual nickname for assemblymen, "the student from Winnebago."

Lucey, Steffens said, "saw eye-to-eye with the late President Kennedy, who taught us politics is not a dirty game." Through Lucey, he said, young and vital people have been attracted to politics.

A week ago, Steffens said, political friends in Milwaukee paid $50 a plate to eat with Lucey at a testimonial Monday night. Lucey, the second man in Wisconsin government, postponed a vacation trip to visit socially with the aldermen.

"You aldermen spend more time and work harder for compensation received than state legislators," Lucey said. "You are the best evidence that our system (democracy) really does work." Lucey supported Steffens' belief that "breaking bread together socially" helps make problem solving easier and often soothes the bitterness that grows over prolonged periods of wrestling with government.

Staff Changes Reported

3 Teachers Sign AHS Contracts for 1965-66

A number of changes in the teaching staff in the Appleton School System were reported by Supt. William Spears at the board of education meeting Monday.

Three new contracts for the senior high school have been signed for the 1965-66 school year.

Donald D. Conachen will teach industrial arts, Byron D. Leinweber, mathematics and Mrs. Nancy Erickson, English.

Okay Resignation

The board approved the resignation of George Loudenslager, science instructor, who asked to be released from his 1965-66 contract. At the present time this is the only vacancy. There are a number of prospects for the position, Spears said.

A year's leave of absence was granted to Miss Carol Lehman, primary teacher at Johnston School. She will attend Northern Michigan State University in Marquette to complete her graduate work.

Salary change requests were granted to six teachers who have either earned higher degrees or credits beyond their present degrees.

Work on Degrees

Mrs. Teresa Novokofski, principal at Jackson and Columbus Schools, has earned 15 credits beyond her master's degree. James E. Peotter and Mrs. Marie Frank have earned their master's degrees, and David Schini, Alan Hoffman and Glenn La Frombois have earned 15 credits beyond their bachelor degrees.

The board set a date for a special meeting with the Appleton Education Association. Representatives of the two groups will meet Sept. 14 to discuss ideas and iron out problems which might arise.

The board also approved the request of the Appleton Vocational and Adult School for use of a high school classroom and science laboratories for high school credit courses offered at AVS for the second year.

Gen. Taylor, Rusk Address Legion Parley

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Addresses by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and retiring U.S. Ambassador to Viet Nam Gen. Maxwell Taylor highlight today's activities at the national American Legion convention. Both speak at the opening of the convention's general business sessions. Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., addresses the national commander's dinner tonight. The legion will confer distinguished service medals upon the late Herbert Hoover and former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes at a noon ceremony. Herbert Hoover Jr. will accept the award on behalf of the late president. Byrnes, also a former governor of South Carolina, is in Portland. Other recipients of the honor include Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, John F. Kennedy and Dwight D. Eisenhower. At the legion parade Monday through downtown Portland, some 10,000 persons participated in a five-hour procession past some 75,000 spectators.

Robert Fenn Gets Certificate

Embarrass Youth Cited for Rescue

CLINTONVILLE — Robert Fenn, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fenn, Embarrass, was presented a certificate of recognition by the American National Red Cross here Monday morning. The award cited the youth "for extraordinary personal action in rescuing a boy who became panicky when he got into deep water."

Standing on Bridge

"The certificate was presented to Fenn by Louis Kruekenberg, local chapter chairman."

Fenn was standing on the bridge over the Embarrass River in the Village of Embarrass June 21 when he saw that Martin Koeller, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Koeller, Embarrass, was experiencing difficulty swimming. Others swimming with Koeller were unable to aid him. Robert, fully clothed, jumped into the river and rescued the youth. It was the first time this season that Koeller had been swimming. Chapter officials said he knows how to swim, but evidently became frightened and panicky in the deep water.

Took Lessons

Fenn took Red Cross-sponsored swimming lessons for one year at the Clintonville Municipal swimming pool. Officials said his action was undoubtedly the primary factor in saving the life of the Koeller boy. According to officials, the certificate presented Fenn is given to persons who have performed a deed of extraordinary personal bravery.

Cleaning Rags Ignite in School

Appleton firemen were called to St. Bernadette School, 2331 E. Lourdes Drive, at 6:39 a.m. today when some cleaning rags caught fire. The rags, which had been used for waxing and cleaning Monday, had been placed in the cleaning room without being put in a container, according to firemen. Minor smoke damage was reported.

Farmer, 90, Helps Himself After Mishap

BLACK CREEK — A 90-year-old Town of Maine farmer is in New London Community Hospital today after he drove himself home from a serious tractor accident Friday.

Nathan Schauger is being treated for a punctured lung and broken ribs. Schauger was breaking up the soil on his land when he was brushed to the ground by the branch of a tree and injured by a disc harrow which his tractor was pulling.

Schauger was working alone. He managed to reach his car, got into it and drove to the Arnold Burmeister home. Mrs. Burmeister is Schauger's daughter. She found him about 7 p.m. and persuaded him to see a doctor. He was then taken to the hospital.

Workers Find Damage At Appleton School

Police have been alerted to extensive vandalism at the St. Theresa School construction site which was discovered Monday by workmen. Damage to a recently poured concrete floor and equipment was apparently done sometime over the weekend.

each location. At present, each of these local supervisors reports directly to his functional division chief in Madison, resulting in lack of coordination at the local area offices.

This reorganization, together with other suggestions pertaining to the operating divisions, would save an estimated $212,000 through better use of manpower, the study reports.

In addition to naming area general managers, the task force advised establishing a new assistant directorship to handle all service functions, assigning the legal counsel to the director's office, putting forest management and forest protection under one manager, and eliminating the "business manager" classification.

Division Status Urged The task force recommended that the land acquisition program be given division status. In surveying the program, the group suggested more consideration of easement and lease as well as purchase of land and recommended increased emphasis upon development of lands now held by the state and federal government.

Encouragement of more private recreational facilities was also recommended operating under an assistance program with the land acquisition program. The 30 cents per acre reimbursement the state now makes to localities for land

Annexation Petitions to Be Circulated

Menasha Plans to Take in 180 Acres Of Land in Town

MENASHA — Annexation petitions for a 180-acre land package in the Town of Menasha were expected to be circulated by the city today — exactly ten days after publication of the final revision of the notice of intent to circulate them.

The final revision, published in a legal notice Aug. 14, eliminated about 90 acres of property proposed for annexation to the city. An earlier revision eliminated an additional 60 acres.

State statutes require that the petitions be circulated not less than 10, nor more than 20, days after publication of the city's intent to annex an area.

City officials are optimistic that the necessary signatures on the petition can be secured within a day or two. The petition must then be filed with the State Department of Resource Development.

An annexation ordinance must be passed by the common council in order to make the annexation official.

Included in the 180-acre corridor is the site of the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center, the 81.58-acre industrial park area, and 40 acres owned by Albert Siekman. The area reaches as far north as Valley Road.

Original intentions to include Valley Fair shopping center and the Home Mutual Insurance Co. building on Foster Street in the petition have been discarded.

Chiefs Agree to End Yemen War

CAIRO (AP)—Cairo radio interrupted regular programs today to announce that President Gamal Abdel Nasser and King Faysal of Saudi Arabia have agreed to end the Yemen war and "help the Yemeni people preserve their national gains."

Cairo radio and the powerful Voice-of-the-Arabs radio broadcast from Jidda a joint communique heralding that Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Republic will "cooperate in cordiality for the sake of the Arab nation and for bolstering and realizing the common Arab aspiration."

Syria-East Germany Raise Consul Relations

taken off tax rolls should be reassessed, the group said, and more flexible rate of compensation considered.

In other conservation recommendations the businessmen said programs such as pheasant and trout stocking should be put on a pay-as-you-go basis like deer hunting. It is in this area that a revenue increase of $400,000 is possible. The two Department of Agriculture recommendations would raise license fees for feed registration to recover $10,000 annually now lost.

2 Appleton Boys Pedal Bikes 104 Miles for Merit Badges

Two Appleton teen-agers pedaled their bikes 104 miles Saturday as part of the requirements for the Boy Scout cycling merit badge. George Lutzewitz Jr., 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lutzewitz, 514 E. Fremont St., and David Schrimpt, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schrimpt, 315 E. Maple St., rode from Appleton to the Lutzewitz cottage near Wabeno.

The trip took 14 hours, including 1 1/2 hours which was spent repairing minor trouble on the old bikes and returning to pick up some sunglasses left on the side of the road during the repairs. The Scouts left at 6:20 a.m. from Appleton, stopped at service stations along the way for refreshments and ate dinner at a restaurant in Gillett. With only nine miles left to go, the boys refused a ride from the Lutzewitzs, who spent the weekend with the boys at the cottage.

The trip took 14 hours, including 1 1/2 hours which was spent repairing minor trouble on the old bikes and returning to pick up some sunglasses left on the side of the road during the repairs.

Manawa Man Dies of Trash Fire Burns

MANAWA—Alvin A. Wegner, 72, 527 Factory St., Manawa, died late Monday night, in Milwaukee of third degree burns suffered Aug. 12 when he fell into a burning garbage pit.

Wegner was working at the city dump, three miles south of here when he lost his balance and rolled down an embankment through the fire. He was taken to New London Community Hospital.

Later he was transferred to St. Mary Hospital Burn Center, Milwaukee, for treatment where he remained until his death.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Kimberly Buses Will Travel Same Routes

KIMBERLY — Students riding buses for orientation programs at Kimberly school Wednesday and Thursday will be picked up on the same routes as last year according to Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools. Buses will start runs about 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Friday and next week runs will start earlier as normal school hours take effect.

Red China Careful To Avoid Viet Nam War, Declares Rusk

'Peking Willing to Fight to Last Vietnamese' Communists Feel

BY LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says Red China talks tough about Viet Nam but is taking care not to get into the war.

"There is a comment going around in the Communist world these days that Peking is prepared to fight to the last Vietnamese," Rusk said Monday night.

"There is a certain caution and prudence in their action, more so than in their words."

"It is my impression that the Communist world does not want a general war over Southeast Asia," Rusk said.

Johnson Prudent

President Johnson, too, is acting with prudence to keep the Viet Nam fighting from spiraling into a big war, says McGeorge Bundy, the President's adviser on national security affairs.

Bundy said "that is the meaning of the insistent direct surveillance which the President maintains over major military decisions and specifically over decisions which affect military action against North Viet Nam."

Rusk, Bundy and U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg discussed Viet Nam on a television program — CBS News Special Report.

See Hazards

The secretary of state figured that the Red Chinese are cautious because they see the "very large hazards" to China if it gets into the shooting. Nonetheless, the Reds still want Southeast Asia, he said.

The U.S. foreign policy leaders said the principal ingredient for peace in South Viet Nam must be North Viet Nam's withdrawal of her guerrilla infiltrators — but Hanoi has still shown no interest in talking peace.

B52s Attack Guerrillas in S. Viet Nam

Number of Planes On Missions Now Secret Information

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — B52 bombers of the U.S. Strategic Air Command made another raid on South Viet Nam today, attacking a Viet Cong installation 55 miles south of the big Da Nang air base, a U.S. military announcement said.

The brief announcement said "a number" of B52s made the early morning strike in Quang Tin Province. Thirty planes made up the attack force on most previous B52 raids, but under new security restrictions the number is no longer announced nor is the type and amount of bombs dropped.

The announcement today also did not say where the B52s flew from to make the strike. It was assumed, however, that they came from Guam.

Bien Hoa Mortared

The Viet Cong shelled and mortared the Bien Hoa air base near Saigon early today, damaging 45 U.S. and Vietnamese air force planes and four U.S. Army helicopters, a U.S. military spokesman said. He said none of the aircraft was seriously damaged and all would be repaired within three days.

U.S. sources reported earlier that two helicopters were destroyed, but the spokesman did not confirm this.

The spokesman said the guerrillas fired 10 mortar rounds at the base and 22 other shells of 75mm caliber, possibly from a howitzer or recoilless rifle. An official announcement earlier had said 30 to 50 mortar rounds had been fired at the base.

U.S. and Vietnamese casualties were described as light and no deaths were reported. The base's artillery batteries did not return the fire because the mortars apparently were located in a populated area, U.S. sources said.

State Marine Dies In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Wisconsin Marine was listed by the Defense Department Monday as a casualty of fighting in Viet Nam.

The department identified 17 Marines as killed presumably most of them in the battle of Chu Lai. The list brought the casualties announced in the last four days to 48.

Among the dead was Pfc Gilbert E. Nickerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Nickerson, Racine Wis.

Divers to Spend 45 Days at 210 Feet Sealab Ready for Drop to Floor Of Ocean After Week of Delays

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — After more than a week of technical delays the Navy said it was ready today to lower its Sealab 2 to the ocean floor, where teams of divers will spend up to 45 days working, eating and sleeping at a depth of 210 feet.

The 125-foot steel cylinder was to descend between 6 a.m. and 9 a.m.

The first team of 10 divers, including astronaut M. Scott Carpenter, 39, is expected to go down Wednesday after the underwater base is checked for leaks and for reliability of communications with the surface.

Navy Commander Carpenter, an expert in diving techniques, may stay down as long as 30 days in an attempt to set a new underwater record. Four men lived 13 days at a depth of 160 feet in the smaller Sealab 1 off Bermuda last year.

Facilities for 10

The other divers will rotate on 15-day tours of duty in Sealab 2, which has facilities for 10 at a time.

Slain Seminarian Buried Priest Shot in Alabama Taken Off Critical List

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A young Roman Catholic priest wounded in a burst of shotgun fire last week in Hayneville, Ala., is off the critical list at a Montgomery hospital, while at a New Hampshire church, mourners gathered for the funeral of a slain companion.

Father Richard Morrisroe, 26, of Chicago, was reported rallying somewhat Monday. Baptist Hospital authorities changed their description of his condition from critical to serious and said he has "a good chance for survival."

In Kenne, N.H., services were scheduled for Jonathan Daniels, 27, an Episcopal seminary student fatally wounded by shotgun slugs in the same incident in which Morrisroe was hit.

The two were shot down last Friday afternoon in front of a small grocery store at Hayneville in nearby Leondes County.

Murder Charge

Thomas L. Coleman, 55, a prominent Hayneville resident and special deputy sheriff, was charged with murder and assault with intent to murder in connection with the shootings and is free under $12,500 bond pending action by the county grand jury.

The jury meets Sept. 13, and if indicted, Coleman could be called to trial two weeks later.

Klan leaders delivered angry replies to charges by Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers that Daniels' death was "another Klan murder."

Robert M. Shelton, imperial

Is No Klan wizard of the United Klans of America, Inc., said at his home in Tuscaloosa, Ala., that if Coleman is a Klan member, "I have no knowledge of it."

Dick Gregory To March in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Negro comedian Dick Gregory will lead a four-mile civil rights march in Milwaukee Saturday, sponsors announced today.

The demonstration will protest discrimination in employment, schools and housing, said Marilyn Morheuser, administrative director of Milwaukee United School Integration Committee.

Miss Morheuser said Gregory, active in recent demonstrations in Chicago, would fly to Milwaukee Saturday morning and join the march which will culminate with a series of speeches in MacArthur Square.

She predicted it would be the largest demonstration in Milwaukee history.

The procession, called the "Milwaukee March toward Freedom and Independence," is being sponsored by more than an echo of the Great Society 40 civic, religious and social seeking the Negro vote. And if groups, Miss Morheuser said, he wants it, he should join Assemblyman Lloyd A. Barhands with King in seeking the Negro vote and not attack an organization trying to save this nation.

Settlement Uncertain Dominican Junta to Study Changes in Peace Formula

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The peace-rebel command posts and reintegrating into the regular army his side has asked the Latin-American governments to have the OAS withdraw the force.

Private sources said military leaders backing the junta were "favorably disposed" toward the changes.

Rebel opposition continued to guarantee that the provisional president could send the troops made up largely of U.S. personnel out of the country.

National Drivers' Test To be Repeated Aug. 30

First Show Greeted With Stacks of Mail;
Majority of the Letters Were Favorable

BY JINGO

As if he didn't cause enough marital squabbles the first time around, Warren Bush is ready to do it again with a repeat of The National Drivers' Test over CBS-TV Aug. 30.

When the first test was presented just before the Memorial Day weekend, he and his network were greeted with stacks of mail. Some one-million-and-a-half viewers wrote, and of the half million letters Bush and his staff read, a great many were angry.

"You burn! You just broke up a good marriage," wrote one man whose wife outscored him in the ingenious test narrated by Walter Cronkite and Mike Wallace.

Another husband to show his outrage sent along his score card torn in a thousand pieces. It was accompanied by his wife's. Hers was intact, and she proudly showed that she had got 90-per cent of the answers right.

Majority 'Favorable' "But the majority of the mail was highly favorable," said the smiling writer-producer the other day, as he sipped a cold beer. "More than 30 million homes were tuned to the show, and we got the highest rating of any public affairs show that has ever been on television."

"Without a doubt it proved that Americans are more than eager to improve their driving habits. (The program not only tested drivers but showed them how to avoid accidents). And it also proved that people get a helluva bang out of taking tests."

Because of its success, CBS has Bush designing some more test shows. Next season you can expect ones on current events, history and health. NBC, not to take a backseat, has also picked up the idea and will do the same, with different subjects. The BBC in London has also called Bush, and plans to do a "modest version" of his Drivers' Test.

Test on Sex? "Now if we could only get away with doing a test show on sex. Can you imagine what kind of rating we would get? It would be fantastic," said the writer-producer.

Strong Man Bill Jones shows off for the benefit of fat Lady Jane Casselman and ringmaster Mike Dixon in this scene from Attic Theatre Junior Workshop's production of Don Jones' children's play "Under the Big Top". The play opened Thursday and will be given at 1:30 p.m. today through Saturday at the Lawrence University Music-Drama Center arena stage. Tickets are available at the Attic Theatre box office. (Post-Crescent Photo)

McHale Has 2 Binghamtons In This Show

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — McHale's Navy is at its wildest, most complicated best, with which concerns the captain's "Alias Captain Binghamton," lookalike who is inclined to do a strip tease when drunk. The captain's double, is Seaman Smoot, a dedicated goofball. (R)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Mr. Novak's "The Student Who Never Was" features Robert Walker whose main problem is loneliness. But it's hard to feel sorry for the lad as he busily schemes to embarrass the faculty of Jefferson High. (R)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — Combat comes to a halt for Bobby Rydell (Formerly just a pop singer) to fix a flat tire and make his dramatic TV debut in "The Duel." (R)

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — Hollywood Talent Scouts again takes over the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas, with a trio of veteran chanteuses introducing some budding performers. The ladies in question are Ann Miller, Sarah Vaughn and Zsa Zsa Gabor.

7:30-10 (Channel 4-5) — "Designing Woman" is the Tuesday Movie Special. A romantic comedy, it seems better than it is because of its two attractive leading players, Gregory Peck and Lauren Bacall. A 1957 MGM release. (Color) (R)

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — Peyton Place's gaggle of troubled women includes Allison, who apologizes to Schuster about Elliot's secret from the male. Is it better, Claire, who joyfully possible to get pregnant from discovers her ailing mate is this?

9-10 (Channel 2) — Romance, not operations, causes flutters on The Doctors and the Nurses. Dr. Steffen is in love. A chap who has always failed in the bedside manner department, he falls for a measles patient, an actress, who thinks she is Lady Macbeth everytime she washes her hands. (R)

9-10 (Channel 11) — Jack Klugman turns a tough, seemingly roughshod villain on The Workshop presents Under the Big Top at 1:30 p.m. at Lawrence University Music-Drama Center arena stage.

Queries on Pregnancy Answered by Doctor

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My roommate and I have many questions about pregnancy and hope you can help us. We are in our 20's.—Miss Q. Q. (Also answering Mrs. R.I.M. and others.)

I'll take the questions one at a time, from your letters.

"First of all, we have heard that after a while, such as several years, an immunity to birth control pills develops. Is this true?"

No. "When is the fertile period in a female?" Usually from the 12th to the 16th day after onset of a menstrual period.

"When are the so-called 'safe days'?" Just after and just before a period, but there can be considerable variation because of irregularities in the cycle. Somebody once said that death and taxes are the only certain things. It's not a bad idea to keep in mind.

"Does the male have to enter completely to cause pregnancy?" Sometimes there is a slight irregularity in the secretion from the male. Is it better, Claire, who joyfully possible to get pregnant from discovers her ailing mate is this?

To the first question: No. To the second one: Yes. The vital and Rita, who learns Joe is sperm—just one active cell—reaches and unites with the female ovum.

"Is it possible for a girl to become pregnant without going all the way?" I recently said yes to this question and I was besieged with other inquiries, demanding, upbraiding, disbelieving, or what have you. This is the answer: If the sperm reaches the ovum, pregnancy is possible. (As in the case of artificial insemination, for one example.)

"Is it possible for the female to become pregnant during her menstrual period?"

No. Or to be totally accurate, I'll word it this way: It's most unlikely.

I'll add some comments on the subject.

Mother Nature, obsessed with perpetuating the race, is subtle and uses such guiles as temptation, affection, passion, carelessness, etc.

At risk of being called an old fogey, I've read with interest and heartbreak some of the items printed by "advice" columnists about the touching problems of unmarried girls who have to decide whether to keep or give up a baby born out of wedlock.

My conclusion, at my age of fifty-plus, is that there's much to be said for chastity. Or to put it in less puritanical terms, don't gamble with biological facts. Don't expect that you'll always win. Frequently some-body loses.

Dear D. Molner: In an article concerning Vitamin B complex, you said it can turn the urine deep yellow because of riboflavin being filtered through the kidneys.

Does this mean good, bad, or neither?—R.H.D.

Neither. The system will absorb just so much. The rest is harmlessly excreted.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are internal sanitary napkins harmful?—D.B.L.

No. Tampons are perfectly safe.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, send for my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling. consists largely of the ability to make others believe that you are warm and friendly toward them, when actually they may mean less than nothing.

Some of the major problems of life grow out of the ability of people to pretend feelings that actually they do not have.

Does the same word mean the same thing to all people?

Yes—No—

No. Take the word "house." To a family, this may mean shelter and associations. To a real estate agent, it may mean a chance for profit. To an architect, it may mean creativity. To a particular owner, it may mean status or repairs.

To the assessor, it may mean taxes. To the wife, it may mean cleaning. To the neighbors, it may be an eye-sore; to the fireman, a hazard; and to the delivery man, a place almost impossible to find. The same things mean different things to different people.

It isn't easy to be a good mother-in-law. Yet, many unnecessary arguments, tensions, and misunderstandings can be avoided, when you send for "How to Be a Good Mother-in-law." This helpful booklet has been designed with one aim—harmony between in-laws. Law Halts Giants On 6-Hitter, 6-2; Dodgers Stop Mets Pirates' Alley, Clemente Shine as Spahn Suffers 15th Loss of Year

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants started the day on the wrong side of Warren Giles and finished it on the wrong side of Vern Law.

Law, Pittsburgh's hard-throwing Mormon Elder, tumbled the Giants into third place in the tight National League pennant race Monday night by taming them 6-2 with a six-hitter.

The Giants barely had begun to miss Juan Marichal, slapped with a $1,750 fine and eight-game suspension by NL President Giles for his bat-swinging tantrum in San Francisco the day before, when Law collared them for the fourth time in four tries this year.

Cy Young Winner
The Pirate veteran, whose only fine in 16 major league seasons was a $25 rap for missing a team bus—he persuaded his manager to donate the sum to a church fund-raising drive—is giving Marichal a run for his money in the league ERA derby. Law's 1.88 earned run average is second only to Marichal's

1.78 mark among NL starting pitchers.

Law, a Cy Young Award winner for the world champion Pirates in 1960 and a sore-arm case for three years afterward, almost captured comeback of the year honors last season with 12 victories—five of them shut-outs.

With a 15-9 record to date, he could match his 1960 high of 20 victories this year.

The 35-year-old right hander from Idaho has been a particular thorn to the Giants, yielding only five runs in his four complete-game victories over Willie Mays & Co.

He ended Mays' home run streak Monday night by stopping Willie in three official trips to the plate. Mays, with six homers in his previous six starts, was closing in on Dale Long's major league record of home runs in eight consecutive games.

The Pirates handed Warren Spahn his 15th loss as Roberto Clemente and Gene Alley each capped four hits. Clemente boosting his league-leading batting figure to .340.

1½ Games Behind
San Francisco dropped 1½ games behind the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers, who whipped New York 8-4, and one game behind the Milwaukee Braves, who regained the second spot with a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati. In the other game scheduled, St. Louis trounced the Chicago Cubs 10-2.

Law settled down after giving up runs in the first and fourth innings while the Pirates clipped away at Spahn, now 5-15. Clemente drove in the two runs with a first-inning triple and fifth-inning single before the Pirates broke it open with a four-run seventh. Manny Mota singling across the lead run.

Ron Fairly capped a five-run rally in the fifth inning with a three-run homer and singled another run home in the seventh as the Dodgers overpowered the Mets behind a shaky Don Drysdale. Drysdale gave up 11 hits and needed help from Bob Miller in the eighth en route to his

One of those rare happenings in baseball, a triple play, was pulled off by the Fox Cities Foxes as a feature to an unusual 3-0 Midwest League victory over Waterloo at Goodland Field Monday night.

The triple play came in the seventh inning when a slim 1-0 Fox Cities' lead appeared in danger. Bill Conigliaro led off the inning for Waterloo with a long triple to left-center. Gordy Avery singled to deep second base and Conigliaro held at third to put runners at first and third with no outs.

Wrap Up Stand

Jim Hutto stepped to the plate and rapped a swift grounder to Foxes' second baseman Dennis Denning who whipped the ball to shortstop Wally Birchler covering at second, for one out and Birchler fired to first to get Hutto coming down the line. Conigliaro had hesitated at third before breaking for the plate and when he did decide to try and score, Foxes' first baseman Dick Hickerson rifled a strike to catcher Dick Horton who promptly tagged Conigliaro out for the triple killing.

Tonight the Foxes and Waterloo wrap up their brief 2-game stand. The Foxes then move on

Minnesota Hikes Lead to 7½ Games

Twins Edge Yanks While Chisox Lose

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Kralick has a lot of cheek.

Once on the mound, however,

Kralick came apart at the seams.

Before three innings were over, Kralick was gone, charged with six hits, six runs, a wild pitch and a throwing error as the Angels romped to an 8-2 victory.

Quick Temper Thing
Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts classified the Kralick-Bell fisticuffs—which took place Sunday night—as "a little quick temper thing. It was just one of those things that happen in August, when tempers are short and the pressure is heaviest."

Tebbetts went on to compare the fight with San Francisco pitcher Juan Marichal hitting Los Angeles catcher John Roseboro over the head with a bat in a game at San Francisco Sunday.

But where Roseboro suffered a two-inch gash on his head, Kralick lost a tooth and required nine stitches from a plastic surgeon to repair the damage.

The incident took place in a Washington hotel room Sunday after the two pitchers, who are roommates, returned from dinner. Both admitted they were joking around and kidding each other. Then, said Bell,

A Day's Pay
"One word was said and bam—Jack jumped up and swung so I swung, too."

Tebbetts said there would be no fines unless the two pitchers were unable to work when he called on them. If they were unable to pitch he said he would dock them a day's pay until they could.

Then he went ahead with his

Steelers Swap
3 Draft Choices
For Ready Talent

KINGSTON, R.I. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers said Monday they have surrendered three draft future choices to two other National Football League clubs in exchange for three players.

The Steelers gave two draft picks to the Detroit Lions for offensive end John Hilton from the University of Richmond and fullback Pat Batten, who played at Hardin-Simmons.

They gave the other draft pick to the San Francisco 49ers for veteran guard Mike Magac.

Kralick accepted the challenge.

"I can't afford not to," he said.

So he's one day richer and one loss poorer.

Meanwhile, the Minnesota Twins stretched their American League lead to 7½ games by edging the New York Yankees 4-3 in 10 innings while Baltimore nipped second-place Chicago 2-1 in 12 innings and ended the White Sox' 10-game winning streak.

Kansas City defeated Detroit 4-3 in the only other AL game scheduled.

Enough Damage
Kralick had considerable difficulty against the Angels. Of the six hits he allowed, one was a hunt single, another a topped roller in front of the plate and still another a shot off his glove.

When he added to his growing list of negative achievements

O'Dell, Torre Help Preserve Braves' 7-6 Victory Over Reds; Oliver Socks Homer

Wade Blasingame Will Oppose Jim 'No-Hit' Maloney Tonight

MILWAUKEE (AP)—"He somersaulting but still clutching the ball," chortled a happy Bobby Bragan Monday night after erstwhile All Star catcher Joe Torre performed like an all star at first base in the Braves' 7-6 triumph over Cincinnati.

"He's the all star first baseman just as he was the catcher," Bragan said. Torre made two fine plays at first in the ninth inning to help Billy O'Dell get his 14th save of the season.

The explosive Reds, down 7-1 going into the seventh inning, had rallied for five runs against Ken Johnson and O'Dell to leave the game hanging by a thread.

Pesky Pete Rose opened the ninth with a shot to shortstop, which Denis Menke fielded and threw off line to first base.

Torre leaped off the bag to spear the ball, then swept his glove in a smooth and quick arc to tag Rose, who protested the out call.

Lined to Menke
Vada Pinson then lined to Menke for the second out. With the dangerous Deron Johnson on deck, O'Dell got Don Pavletich to hit a twisting pop behind first base into short right field.

Torre ran backwards after the ball, afraid that if he turned the ball might elude him.

"The ball kept going on me," Torre explained. At the last second Torre leaned back as far as he could go, caught the ball, then fell,

Foxes' Motton Named To ML All-Star Team

Curt Motton, who batted .336 since joining the Fox Cities

Foxes July 14, has nailed down a spot of the Midwest League All-Star team as the first-team left fielder, the league office has announced.

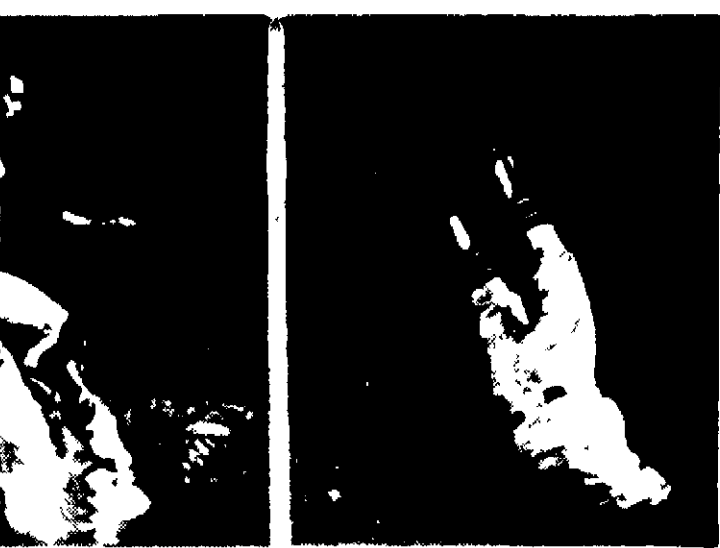

The speedy Motton was the only Fox named to the first two units in a poll by sports writers in the league cities and field managers.

Burlington and Wisconsin Rapids paced the first-team selections, placing seven of the 11 players on the honor unit. Burlington's Randy Schwartz, voted most valuable player in the league, heads the top unit, followed by Wisconsin Rapids' Dan DiPace, the league's leading hitter.

Burlington's Gus Niarhos was chosen manager of the year, followed by Cedar Rapids' Ron Plaza.

The complete Midwest League

This Series of Pictures shows Joe Torre, first baseman for the Milwaukee Braves, backpeddling as he grabs a pop fly ball to right field in the ninth inning of Monday night's game at Milwaukee County Stadium. The ball was hit by Don Pavletich of the Cincinnati Reds and Torre's catch provided the final out of the tight game which the Braves won, 7-6. Torre's momentum carries him backward in the second picture and he hits the ground in the third picture as Woody Woodward darts past him. The last picture shows Torre doing a headstand as he flipped over, but managed to hold onto the ball for the key out. (AP Wirephotos)

State Woman Wins Title in Vandalia Test

Singles Champion
From Oshkosh
Breaks 97 of 100

Special to the Post-Crescent

VANDALIA, O.—A Cudahy woman led the Wisconsin contingent of trapshooters at the Grand American Tournament here Monday as 26 Badger shooters joined almost 900 other gunners from across the nation in opening grand American days with a 200 target 16 yard event.

Mrs. Sam (Loreen) Kaluser, Wisconsin women's champion, won the Class C championship via a 197 x 200 score in the regular event and by besting E. J. Spear of Massillon, Ohio in a shoot-off breaking 23 x 25 to Spear's 22 x 25. Spear had also shot a 197 in the regular event, but she was beaten in a shoot-off for the women's championship and she and her husband's combined score of 390 x 400 gave them the husband and wife trophy.

Scores by area shooters included Glen Thuerwacher, Manitowoc, 194; Richard Marx, Fond du Lac, 186; Nies Fritz, Two Rivers, 173; Ruby Jenner, Waupaca, 190; Ray Jenner, Waupaca, 186; Patty Brauer, Fond du Lac, 183; William A. Brauer, Fond du Lac, 166; Barbara Brauer, Fond du Lac, 134; M. R. Personette, Jr., Oshkosh, Wisconsin state singles champ, scored a 195 in the regular event and a 97 x 100 in the champion of champion's event.

Veteran End, Jerry Reichow, Cut by Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Veteran end Jerry Reichow was cut by the Minnesota Vikings Monday and offered a job with the organization.

Reichow, 31, a star at the University of Iowa and a nine-year National Football League veteran, joined the Vikings in 1961, their first season.

A Viking spokesman said Reichow had been offered a job with the club "because of his great contribution to the team."

Reichow led the Vikings in pass receiving in 1961 and 1962. The spokesman said Reichow, who goes on waiver, was considering the position, details of which were not disclosed.

The Vikings also cut six rookies Monday, reducing the Wisconsin Women's champion squad to 47. They are Frank McCord, defensive tackle, Alameda, Ron Barlow, fullback, Kansas State, Woody Peoples, guard, Grambling, Jerry McCord, defensive end, Colorado, and Mel Meeks, fullback, Muskegon, Okla.

Curt Motton

The second team includes:

Quincy and Dubuque failed to place any players on the two teams

Carol Sorenson Trails by 2 Shots In Qualifying Test

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—British Amateur champion Carol Sorenson of Janesville, Wis., shot a two-over-par 75 in the first qualifying round Monday in her bid to add the U.S. Women's Amateur golf crown.

Sue Lance, 18, Woodland Hills, Calif., and Jeanie Butler, 19, Harlingen, Tex., led with 73s, entering the second half of qualifications today.

With 32 berths available for match play starting Wednesday, Wisconsin Women's champion Carol Jean Sorenson of Racine, faced a scramble today to avoid the cutoff, predicted at 159. Carol Jean shot 42-42—84 Monday while 30 other competitors were firing 79 or better. Carol Ann had rounds of 37-38.

Chisox Buy Gene Freese From Pirates

CHICAGO (AP)—Infielder Gene Freese was bought from the Pittsburgh Pirates Monday by the Chicago White Sox for a price in excess of the $20,000 waiver tag.

Freese, 31, will join the Sox Tuesday. He appeared in 43 games this season for the Pirates, batting .263 and driving in eight runs in 80 times at the plate.

This will be Freese's second term with the White Sox. He joined them in the winter of 1959 in a trade with the Philadelphia Phillies for Johnny Callison. After batting .273 and driving in 29 runs in 1960 he was traded to Cincinnati for pitchers Juan Pizarro and Cal McLish.

Marichal said in the dressing room before the Giants' 6-2 loss in Pittsburgh Monday night, "I'm sorry I hit him with the bat and I want to apologize for that."

Giant Manager Herman Franks said he thought the league's action against his 19-game winner "was a little too quick."

Miss Two Turns
Before the suspension was announced, Franks had said the loss of Marichal for any period "would murder the club" in its Phillies for Johnny Callison fight for the pennant. Marichal will miss at least two turns and his loss will disrupt the Giants' pitching rotation.

Lema Withstands Palmer's Late Charge to Win 'Carling'

Arnie Rallies to Tie, but Bogies On 16th, 17th Holes Prove Costly

BL C. C. MCGILLICUDDY Associated Press Sports Writer SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Champagne Tony Lema gave himself a little lecture as he stood on the 16th green. Today he valued the speech at $35,000 for it helped him capture first prize in the $200,000 Carling World Golf Championship.

Lema withstood a patented charge by Arnold Palmer Monday to win the richest golf tournament, fashioning a 34-36-70 over the par 36-35-71 Pleasant Valley Country Club course.

Palmer, who had tied Lema as late as the 69th hole, blew the lead himself with bogeys on the 16th and 17th greens to wind up with a 34-35-69 and a second place total of 281.

Joe Campbell holed a 12-foot birdie putt on the 18th green, taking third place with a 282, slipping past 53-year-old Sam Snead and U.S. Open champ Gary Player who had 283 totals.

PGA champion Dave Marr was a stroke further back with Homero Blancas, the third round co-leader with Lema.

Blancas, bothered by a bad back, ballooned to a 39-35-75.

Feeling Pressure

Lema indicated he was feeling the pressure of Palmer's charge.

"I was loose enough till I hit the greens," he said, "then I could feel the pressure."

He said he was concerned until he heard that Palmer, playing in a threesome just ahead of him, had bogied the 17th hole.

I told myself then, 'You're a fool if you blow it now.' "

Playing it cautiously, Lema used two putts to get down from 25 feet and register a par on the 183-yard hole. He got a lucky break on the next hole when his second shot was too long, but hit the gallery and bounced back on the green about 30 feet from the cup.

Palmer blamed a couple of bad long iron shots early in the round for his undoing.

"Perhaps they took too much out of me, weakening me for later," he said. "But I believe they cost me a position to win."

16th Was Turning Point

He said the bogey on the 16th probably was the tuning point "but I didn't think it was over until the next hole. The 17th killed me."

Palmer said he was in a real mood to play good golf "and I played pretty well most of the day. I felt charged all day," he said.

The victory raised Lema's 1965 earnings to $98,016. Palmer earned $17,000 for second place, giving golf's all-time top winner $44,712 this year.

Pre-tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus shot his best round on the final day, a 70, but he finished in an eight-way tie for 38th place at 291. He earned $945, leaving him with $786 to go to break Palmer's 1963 record earnings of $128,230.

Freedom defeated Black Creek, 3-1, Sunday afternoon in a Dairyland League makeup contest to tie Seymour for the second round lead and force a playoff for the second round title in the DL's southern division.

Freedom is slated to face Seymour Sunday at Freedom, with the winner meeting Gar-sow, the first round winner, for the division title.

In the northern division, Cecil already won in the second round and, having knotted Nichols for the first-round title, will play Sunday at Nichols to decide the first-round champion.

If Cecil wins, Cecil will meet Freedom for the grand championship of the Dairyland League.

If Nichols win, however, a playoff will be required the next Sunday between first-round winner Nichols and second-round winner Cecil to decide the northern division champion.

In the Freedom-Black Creek contest Sunday, Dave Teske went the route for Freedom and allowed just three hits. The only run he gave up was an unearned one in the fourth. Starter Tom Hildebrand was the losing hurler, needing relief help in the third from Don Kettner.

O'Dell, Torre Help Braves To 7-6 Win

on a two-run homer by Gene Oliver and a two-run single by Felipe Alou.

Out of Trouble

In the sixth, Johnson's control deserted him as he walked two men, but he got out of trouble without damage. In the seventh the roof fell in on him and the usually reliable reliever O'Dell.

Art Shamsky opened the inning with a single and Johnny Edwards brought him in with a home run. After Leo Cardenas bounced out, Marty Keough ripped a single to right and Harper rolled one into center.

O'Dell came on to give up base-clearing triple to Rose and a ground out that brought Rose home with the Reds' sixth run. Singles by Pavletich and Johnson revived the threat, which reached crisis proportions when O'Dell plunked Frank Robinson with a pitch to load the bases. But O'Dell rose to the occasion by getting Edwards to roll into a force out and the threat was over.

Back in Second

The Braves' victory moved them back into second place still one-half game behind the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The second in the Braves' four-game set against the Reds is scheduled for tonight with No-Hit Jim Maloney expected to pitch for Cincinnati, pitting his 14-6 record against Milwaukee's Wade Blasingame, 15-8.

with a throwing error, Tebbetts yanked him.

Jimmy Piersall did enough damage to win it for the Angels, driving in three runs with two doubles and a single in support of rookie Marcelino Lopez, who won his 14th.

The Twins, trailing 3-2 after the seventh, tied the score in the ninth on a single by Zoilo Versalles and Tony Oliva's double. Then they won it in the 10th against reliever Jim Bouton on two walks and a single by Jerry Kindall.

The Orioles and White Sox were locked in a duel until the 12th when Brooks Robinson drew a walk off Hoyt Wilhelm and scored on Curt Blefary's triple. Baltimore starter Steve Barber left for a pinch hitter in the ninth after allowing just four hits and Chicago starter Juan Pizarro left in the 11th after surrendering only seven hits.

Ken Harrelson's solo homer in the sixth inning brought the A's their victory. The A's scored three runs in the first two innings but the Tigers came back to tie the score in the third on a three-run homer by Gates Brown.

Anderson, Gibson Pace Net Winners

Brent Gibson and Jack Anderson paced winners in the Appleton City Tennis Tournament completed last week, each capturing a pair of titles.

Brent defeated John Speich, 7-5, 6-1, for the junior boys championship and beat Ted Bourassa, 6-1, 6-3, for the boys 14-16 division title. Jack beat David Tebo, 6-3, 6-0 to win the boys 12 and under title and beat Chuck Olson, 6-1, 6-4 for the boys 12-14 crown.

Other winners included Barbara Bauer, who beat Martha Miles, 6-1, 7-5, for the junior girls title and Jean Krueger, who took honors in the girls 14-16 division by defeating Jill Learmann, 6-0, 6-1.

A total of 46 boys and girls competed in the tourney's six divisions.

17th victory of the season and 18th in 20 career decisions with New York.

Flood Has 4 RBI

Curt Flood drove in four runs with two singles and a double and Bill White lashed a single, double and triple good for three RBI as the Cardinals battered ex-teenmate Larry Jackson and the Cubs. Curt Simmons picked up his ninth victory against 11 losses by spacing 10 hits, including a ninth-inning homer by Chris Krug.

Economists See No Danger In Price Rise

Gradual Nature of Increase Viewed as Encouraging Sign

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising retail prices on food and other consumer goods or services worry many families today. Businessmen and manufacturers fret at the steady climb in costs of first one and then another industrial material.

And the future holds still more troublesome possibilities.

One is the threat of still higher production costs under new labor contracts that might set off general price increases in basic industries.

And another is the effect of more government spending for the Viet Nam war when the economy already was at a point that some thought dangerously near to overheating.

No Danger

The gradual rise in prices, both at consumer and industrial levels, has been cited by government economists as one reason they think more inflation isn't a clear and present danger.

Another reason for confidence has been the belief, widely held in and out of government, that the economy was due to take a breather, postponing inflation problems.

But more private economists, especially in banking circles, are sounding warnings today that any sizable climb in economic expansion now, as contrasted to the letdown expected earlier, could bring on an inflationary turn that would nullify much of the gains.

"Great Society"

In addition to more spending because of Viet Nam, these worriers cite the increased outlays shaping up as various government programs looking toward the "great Society" build up steam.

So far, the price advances haven't been too alarming. The increased cost of living is real enough to families trying to balance their budgets. But there has been no runaway.

Industrial price gains have been in such things as metals. This increases the cost of manufacturing many items that consumers and industry use. But corporate profits have been so good, and competition still so keen, that most manufacturers have been able to absorb the higher metals costs without raising the price tags on their finished products.

The chief worry now is that the policing powers of competition might be lessened. They could be if the Viet Nam war grew large enough to put a premium on some goods and materials. And competition might be less of a brake on prices if consumers continue in the spending mood that sends retail sales up almost every month.

Retail Record

The dollar volume of retail sales set a record in July. Some say the cut in excise sales tax inspired more buying. But the tax was included in the prices of most items before the cut. Since these price tags presumably were lowered in July, the dollar volume of sales of all goods would imply much greater buying of consumer items than just a hunt for tax-free bargains.

But for all their worrying about what might happen — what forces may be feeding the fire of future inflation — all but a few economists admit that the danger still lies in the future.

Your bills are higher — whether you're a consumer or a purchasing agent for a manufacturer — but the overheating of the economy hasn't rounded the corner, yet.

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO—According to a University of Chicago National Opinion Research Center survey 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without use of will power thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Thanks to this tablet, 88,648 heavy smokers have already stopped smoking.

Smokers interested in receiving information about the new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 573 K-1, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

It is sufficient to send your name and address. Just a postcard will do.

Johnson Reluctance Halts North Viet Nam Blockade

President Unwilling to Force Confrontation With Soviet Union

BY ROBERT S ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's unwillingness to risk a possible "confrontation with the Soviet Union" is primarily deterring the imposition of a naval blockade against North Viet Nam.

Authority for the highly significant information is Defense Secretary McNamara.

The Pentagon chief disclosed it in response to a question by Representative Clark MacGregor of R-Minn. at a briefing for members of Congress A World War II veteran who won a battlefield commission in Burma.

MacGregor asked, "The United States was not at war with Cuba in 1962 but that did not prevent us from invoking a blockade of the island since that was done in 1962 against a country with which we were not at war. wouldn't it be feasible and proper to resort to a similar policy against a nation with which we are at war?"

Also raised by MacGregor was whether the Navy has the capability of enforcing such a blockade.

Shut Off Shipments "It may not be necessary to blockade the entire North Vietnamese coast," said MacGregor. "Shutting off shipments to Haiphong, the main port, may be enough. Most of the Communist arms and other supplies, including SAM-2 surface-to-air missiles are unloaded there. So merely cutting off Haiphong may be sufficient."

On the question of the Navy's capability, McNamara answered,

West Germany, 8. Liberia, 8. Sweden, 3. France, 2. Finland, 1. Denmark, 1. Burma 1.

Virtually every one of these countries, Chamberlain pointed out bitterly is a beneficiary of large amounts of U.S. economic and other aid.

And that is only part of this grievous story.

In the past 18 months, 24 of these ships have "used our own U.S. ports to further enhance their profits."

Subsidize Fleet

Apparently this is an arrangement that pays off very well," said Chamberlain, a member of the Armed Services Committee.

"I am informed that these 24 ships called a total of 75 times in our ports. How can we let vessels hauling cargoes to North Viet Nam use the ports of our country at a time when we are spending $350 million a year to subsidize our own merchant marine that hauls less than 10 per cent of our export trade?"

Pointing out the heavy Western shipping to North Viet Nam is at the rate of more than one vessel a day, Chamberlain demanded "something be done without delay to halt this traffic with the enemy."

"Just think of it," he declared, "our friends, our allies, sent more than a ship a day in the last 18 months to supply our enemy. Since World War II we have given almost $41 billion in aid to the countries that have been carrying cargoes to our enemy."

Chamberlain noted that the figures he cited are from a bill barring the use of U.S.

A Teacher Sitting in the glass-banked faculty room between the two rooms of the new commercial suite at Fox Valley Lutheran High School can view students in both the typing room and men are dying in Viet Nam, unclassified official sources say. The more than 500 have been killed by enemy action. And our friends, by supplying the enemy, are helping to kill them.

"Let me assure you that the classified reports are even more alarming," he said. "I have seen them. Every member of Congress has a legitimate right and I believe a moral obligation to become fully informed about this matter. We are sending more and more young men to Viet Nam, while we members of Congress sit on our hands and tolerate this national scandal."

Chamberlain and Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., have introduced a bill barring the use of U.S.

ports to ships trading with North Viet Nam. The State Department is vigorously opposing this measure on the ground that "most of the goods carried are virtually non-strategic in nature and are of secondary importance to North Viet Nam's war capabilities. Also, if free world ships were removed from this trade they could be replaced by Communist bloc vessels."

Chamberlain flatly challenges these arguments as unfounded. He has written the President personally urging him to take immediate steps to "stop this trading with the enemy that defies any explanation."

AMA President Says 'Quite a Few' Doctors Will Ignore 'Medicare'

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The president of the American Medical Association, Dr. James Z. Appel, predicts that "quite a few" doctors will refuse to participate in the federal medicare program.

He says the doctors will protest the program by refusing to complete the forms to be required by the federal government. This, he says, would make it impossible for the Social Security system to make payments to the doctors.

Appel, interviewed Tuesday said, "I have not heard one physician tell me that he will not take care of patients over 65, but quite a few will ignore the required government forms."

58 U.S. Servicemen Die in Transport Crash

Plane Carrying Men Back To Viet Nam From Leave Falls in Hong Kong Bay

BY FORREST EDWARDS

HONG KONG (AP) — Fifty-eight U.S. servicemen, most of them Marines flying back to Viet Nam after leave, were feared dead today after their transport plane crashed into Hong Kong harbor just after taking off.

"Except for 13 known survivors it now appears all others aboard the flight are dead," said an American official on the scene.

Divers pulled two bodies from the torn and twisted wreckage and said they believed there were at least 20 still inside the fuselage.

Remove Wreckage

Two barge cranes lifted the wreckage seven and a half hours after the crash from 30 feet of water and began towing it to the British Royal Air Force dock for removal of the bodies.

Eyewitnesses said a 29-year-old Chinese barge foreman, Ng Kam-shing, and two other barge workers made two trips through burning oil in a small sampan to pull seven of the survivors from the water.

An operations officer at Hong Kong's Kai Tak Airport said there were 71 persons aboard — 6 crewmen and 65 passengers — when the C130 Hercules took off for Da Nang and Saigon. He said the manifest indicated two were Navy men and the rest Marines.

Seven Missed Plane

He said seven other Marines were supposed to have made the flight but did not show up on time.

Won't Maneuver Spacecraft

It's Only a Paper Moon Astronauts Chase Today

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The cheerful Gemini 5 astronauts, a million miles of space travel behind them, aimed at more make-believe rendezvous exercises today to enhance the nation's effort to fly a man to the moon.

They won't actually maneuver their spacecraft as they did Monday in running down an imaginary satellite in a make-believe rendezvous. This time it will all be on paper.

All appeared "go" for space-

with an Agena rocket is considered an absolute necessity on a lunar mission.

The real thing — an actual docking — is slated for the two-day Gemini 6 flight in late October.

The astronauts got a "well done" from earth Monday for their 40,000-mile chase after a satellite that didn't exist.

Afterwards, flight officials reported that if the satellite had not been merely a ghost, the spacecraft would have been within 17 miles of it — or, to a point where it would be up to the crews judgment and ability, rather than computers, to dock with it.

A rendezvous with a 76-pound radar-equipped pod was ditched earlier in the Gemini 5 flight after a power failure on the spacecraft.

Chipper and rested, the spacemen ate well and showed no signs of ill effects from their global trips, medical officers reported.

After using an exercise cord aboard the craft to help them keep in shape, their heart rates were almost identical to the rates after similar exercise on earth.

Fourth Day of Orbiting Okayed

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Gemini 5 mission control center gave astronauts Cooper and Conrad the go-ahead today for a fourth day of space travel, at least through the 61st orbit.

men L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. to spend a full eight days on their voyage through the skies, giving the United States at least five world space flight records.

End 41st Orbit

They completed their 41st orbit at 2:14 a.m. (EST).

The ghost satellite chase brought the craft only to the point of preparing to dock.

Today's plan called for the astronauts to simulate on paper the parking and locking process without actually changing the orbit of their craft or firing their braking rockets.

Dr. Sam Sheppard Files Another Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath sentenced to life imprisonment in the 1954 slaying of his wife, appealed again today to the Supreme Court to review his trial.

The filing of the new appeal permits Dr. Sheppard to remain at liberty pending final action by the high tribunal.

Elderly Man 'Nabbed'

Deposit Slip Causes Alarm in Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph B. Finazzo had been making deposits at the Roosevelt Savings Bank in Brooklyn for years, but never before had he gotten as much attention as he got Monday.

When Finazzo, 74, a retired furrier, handed a deposit slip for $100 to the teller things began to happen.

The teller set off a silent alarm, a guard grabbed Finazzo and three police cars roared up to the bank and whisked him off to the station house.

Turned Loose

Officers quizzed the stocky, white-haired Finazzo for an hour, then with profuse apologies they turned him loose.

Finazzo had been the victim of a prank.

Written on the back of the deposit slip was: "This bottle contains acid. Deposit in brown paper bag bills of various denominations. Do not scream for help or you will get hurt."

A prankster apparently had written the threatening note on the slip, then carefully placed it back into the stack.

There it waited until Finazzo came into the bank at 10:30 a.m., made out his deposit and gave it to the teller, Patrick Antonello, 19.

New Teller Antonello casually turned the slip over — and saw the message. It was his first day on the job, but he had been instructed how to handle such situations.

He pressed the alarm button and motioned to bank guard Gerald Dooley.

Finazzo was no stranger to the bank. He owns an apartment house and has a large savings account at the bank.

Winnebago's Former Head Safe in Hawaii

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — A former Wisconsin psychiatrist and his young son — missing aboard a 24-foot trimaran — were spotted Monday by the crew of a Coast Guard plane about 35 miles northeast of Hilo, apparently in good condition.

An intensive air-sea search was launched earlier after Dr. Charles Belcher and his son, Eric, 12, failed to arrive as expected Sunday at Hilo, 200 miles southeast of Honolulu.

The Coast Guard crew which spotted the craft said it was "positively identified" as the overdue trimaran and "all occupants are apparently in good condition."

The father and son had left Kahului, Maui, 85 miles southeast of Honolulu, on Saturday.

Dr. Charles H. Belcher served as superintendent of the Winnebago State Hospital almost five years. He left May 29, 1964, to report to the Mental Health Clinic, Island of Hawaii.

A graduate of the University of Arkansas School of Medicine, 1953, Dr. Belcher served in V A hospitals in Boston and Murfreesboro, Tenn., before going to Southeast Louisiana State Hospital, Mandeville, La., as clinical director and later as superintendent. He came to the Winnebago State Hospital from this post.

GOP Wants to Put Limit on Immigration

Canadians, Other Hemisphere Natives Would Have Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans open a fight today to place a ceiling on immigration from Canada, Mexico and other Western Hemisphere nations.

They want the limit to be included in a bill which would make major changes in U.S. immigration policy. The House takes up the measure today, with a final vote expected Wednesday.

The bill, a key administration measure, would wipe out the 41-year-old national origins quota system that now applies to nations outside the Western Hemisphere. It bases immigration on the national origins of the U.S. population in 1920.

Waiting Lists Under it, Western Europe gets most of the 158,161 visas authorized, with the other quota nations severely limited. The large quota countries rarely use all their numbers, while the low quota countries have long waiting lists for visas.

The bill, which had strong bipartisan backing in the Judiciary Committee, would replace the quota system with an overall ceiling of 170,000, under which the present quota countries would be treated equally. Each would be allowed a maximum of 20,000 visas a year, to be granted on a preference basis favoring close relatives of U.S. citizens.

Ceiling Needed

While they go along with scrapping the quota system, most House Republicans say a consistent immigration policy requires a ceiling on Western Hemisphere immigration, too.

Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., has the solid backing of GOP leaders for an amendment that would limit hemisphere immigration to 115,000 a year. It totaled 139,000 last year, and 147,000 the year before.

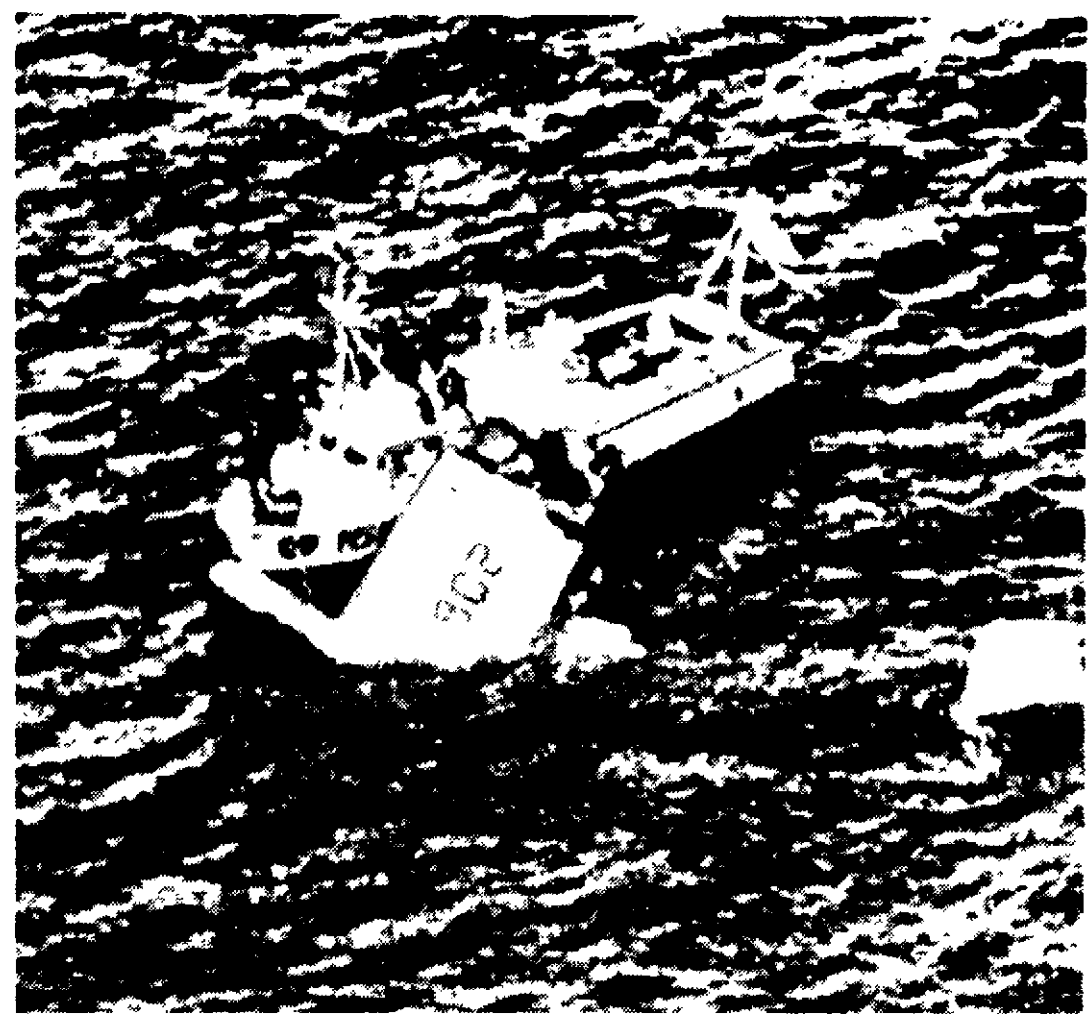

Rep. Michael A. Feighan, D-Ohio, chairman of the Immigration subcommittee, also favors a ceiling but deferred to the State Department and kept it out of the bill. Secretary of State Dean Rusk made a strong stand before the subcommittee against such action, saying it damages relations with hemisphere nations.

Federal Mediator Enters American Motors Dispute

1966 Rambler Production Stops As 11,000 Workers Leave Jobs

KENOSHA (AP) — A federal mediator joined efforts today to settle a United Auto Workers strike which has halted 1966 Rambler production at American Motors Corp. plants in both Kenosha and Milwaukee.

Pickets patrolled throughout the night at the two assembly plants here where more than 11,000 members of UAW Local 72 struck Monday morning. The walkout caused the shutdown of the American Motors body plant in Milwaukee just 45 minutes later.

Although there was no immediate announcement from management or union officials of further talks, the regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, C. K. Call, said both sides had agreed to meet with him to discuss resuming the negotiations.

100 Grievances

The negotiators had met around the clock Sunday and early Monday seeking a settlement of more than 100 pending union grievances before the strike deadline. A company spokesman said the major issue was disciplining of union officials.

There were no disturbances on the picket lines Monday and Kenosha police described the situation today as "peaceful and normal." Police said no extra patrols had been sent to the two assembly plants.

There was no definite indication of how long the strike would last. In Milwaukee, maintenance crews reportedly were instructed to coat unpainted 1966 bodies with rust preventative to guard against damage in a prolonged shutdown.

Bloody Riots Continue in Korean City

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean government called in troops to disperse demonstrating crowds in Seoul today. Bloody clashes erupted for the second day between riot police and rock-hurling student demonstrators protesting the recent Japan-South Korea amity treaty.

About 9,000 battled police who tried to disperse them with tear gas and clubs.

Police said 526 persons were arrested, most of them college youths. They said 138 policemen were injured, five seriously. Scores of students were hurt.

The demonstrators demanded the treaty with Korea's former colonial ruler be scrapped and the National Assembly, which recently ratified it despite an opposition party boycott, be dissolved.

About 300 troops put a blanket of tear gas over a two-block-long street in western Seoul where nearly 3,000 students were demonstrating.

Beats Republicans to Punch

Johnson Administration Puts in Bid In Battle of Viet Nam White Papers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle of the Viet Nam "white papers" was joined today as a White House spokesman said Eisenhower had been in-beating Republicans to the punch.

Last week House GOP leaders passed word they were issuing a white paper this Wednesday as a rebuttal to President Johnson's statements he is carrying out a commitment former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made to South Viet Nam in 1954.

But even as the Republicans were still stapling their manifesto together Monday, the White House was announcing distribution of a 27-page pamphlet called "Why Viet Nam," packed with speeches, letters and other documents.

Letters From Ike

The first section, entitled "The Roots of Commitment," focuses on three letters from Eisenhower and notes.

"In letters to Prime Minister Churchill in 1954 and to President Diem (of South Viet Nam) in 1954 and 1960, President Eisenhower describes the issues at stake and pledges United States assistance in South Viet Nam's resistance to subversion and only a year away, the dispute has some of the atmosphere of an argument by historians.

For instance the title of the GOP paper sounds more academic than militant. It will be called, "Viet Nam: Some Neglected Aspects of the Historical Records."

The House Republicans certainly felt they had more than the makings of an academic dispute. After a meeting with GOP congressional leaders in Washington last Tuesday, Eisenhower remarked that his commitment to Viet Nam had not been military but economic.

The House leaders — who don't object to U.S. actions in Viet Nam, just to Johnson saying he is carrying out an Eisenhower commitment — then let it be known they had a white paper in the works.

But two days later Eisenhower took much of the steam out of the issue. He announced at a GOP gathering at his Gettysburg farm that he supported Johnson and that his commitment to Viet Nam was made a decade ago, when the situation was entirely different there.

New London Sewer Probed By TV Survey

Possible Repairs Of Mains Being Checked by Camera

NEW LONDON — A television study of 1,500 feet of sewer pipe in Division Street between Oak and Millard streets started Monday afternoon.

Director of Public Works Ray Pelishek said the survey is being conducted to determine whether any of the mains needed repairs before surfacing of Division Street is done later this year.

Televising the sewers is a two-man crew from American Pipe Service Co., Minneapolis, Minn. A written report is expected in about two weeks, officials said. The survey covers more than a three-block area. A 12-inch main runs from Oak to Evergreen streets, a one-block area, and the remainder is a 15-inch main.

Sanitary Purposes
The sewers are only for sanitary purposes, since separate storm sewers service this portion of the city.

Some sanitary and storm sewer remains to be put in the southern portion of the street. Work is expected to be completed within a month, and black-topping of the street is set to be finished this fall.

The roadway has been widened to 66 feet and cut down considerably from the old grade.

Curb and gutter will be put in along the entire stretch of new surfacing which is to be done by the Waupaca County Highway Department. The city has extended curb and gutter work south of the city limits of the town of Horton.

Opened for Traffic

County Trunk D (Division Street) has been opened for through traffic, although it is not completed. The road from Winchester to New London's city limits was opened Memorial Day by Waupaca County, which along with New London and Outagamie County has engaged in a major overhaul of the road.

The Waupaca County highway commissioner's office said in June that surfacing of the 4½-mile stretch finished by Waupaca County, and the New London portion, would be surfaced late this fall or early spring, depending upon the date the city concluded its underground work.

No Date Set for Further Negotiations In A-C Labor Dispute

A spokesman for the strike-bound Allis Chalmers Appleton Works said today that no date for further negotiations to settle the 43-day-old strike has been agreed upon.

The spokesman said the company had been officially informed today of the rejection by Local 747 of the International Association of Machinists Saturday of a settlement proposal. The strikers voted 132-366 to reject the offer.

Meanwhile, picketing continues at the firm's main plant on S. Oneida Street.

The Appleton problem arose when the city agreed to extend a main to the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center, and encountered demands for other service connections in the neighborhood that the Public Service Commission honored.

The PSC opposed the original bill proposed by the City of Appleton and ordered the city to provide service to other customers. The PSC stated that when a city water utility extends its mains into an outside area, for whatever purpose, it is "holding itself out" for general service and is not permitted to select the customers it wants to have.

Appleton city officials, who traveled to Madison Aug. 12, told Knowles the bill was essential to the continuation of orderly city planning.

Brillion Assessed Valuation For 1965 Totals $12,381,200

Reappraisal Brings Gain In Tax Base

BRILLION — The assessed value of the city's real and personal property is $12,381,200, according to figures compiled since the complete reappraisal here this summer.

Last year's assessed valuation was $9,432,825, with assessments made at the rate of 93.77 per cent of total equalized valuation. The anticipated 1965 assessment will be close to 100 per cent of the total equalized valuation. The amount of assessed valuation excluding new real estate is $10,050,943. Thus the actual total hike in assessed valuation of properties one year old or older is $618,118.

The city paid appraisers from J. M. Clemmshaw Co. $8,000 for assisting the assessor in the revaluation.

Additional Tax Revenue

The increased valuation will provide additional tax revenue for the city without raising the tax rate. Last year's tax rate was $23.80 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. If the county, state and school tax remained the same this year, taxpayers would pay $18.00 per $1,000 of valuation, according to city clerk Lynn Williams. State and county tax figures are not compiled, but the city's share of school taxes for the up-coming year increased $4,062.

Real estate reassessments in Brillion with last year's figures listed second are:

Residential — land, $786,975 ($494,150); improvements, $4,965,575 ($3,985,150); total, $5,752,550 ($4,479,300). Mercantile — land, $333,675 ($132,200); improvements, $1,294,500 ($1,083,175); total, $1,628,175 ($1,215,375). Manufacturing — land, $81,675 ($57,575); improvements, $2,226,225 ($1,685,225 ($1,696,375); total $2,307,900 ($1,753,950).

Birch Society Determined

Impeach Warren Sign Will Be Raised Again

WEYAUWEGA — A highway sign was left on the ground billboard calling for the impeachment since it was cut down so that it could be viewed by insurance.

Warren, which was cut down by vandals recently, will be reconstructed, according to Robert Bales, president of the Weyauwega chapter of the John Birch Society.

The sign, 20 feet long and eight feet high, mounted on four wooden poles, fell victim to vandals' saws last week. A will also be used to support the sign this time, he added.

The Weyauwega Birch Society Chapter also is planning a mock impeachment trial of Warren.

Constructed before Memorial Bales said plans are still Day one mile west of Weyauwega, under way for the trial which ga on the north side of U.S. 10, will be open to the public. Robert Fenn Gets Certificate

Embarrass Youth Cited for Rescue

CLINTONVILLE — Robert Fenn, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fenn, Embarrass, was presented a certificate of recognition by the American National Red Cross here Monday morning.

The award cited the youth "for extraordinary personal action in rescuing a boy who became panicky when he got into deep water."

Standing on Bridge

The certificate was presented to Fenn by Louis Krueckenberg, local chapter chairman.

Fenn was standing on the bridge over the Embarrass River in the Village of Embarrass June 21 when he saw that Martin Koeller, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Koeller, Embarrass, was experiencing difficulty swimming.

Others swimming with Koeller were unable to aid him. Robert, fully clothed, jumped into the river and rescued the youth. It was the first time this season that Koeller had been swimming. Chapter officials said he knows how to swim, but evidently became frightened and panicky in the deep water.

Took Lessons

Fenn took Red Cross-sponsored swimming lessons for one year at the Clintonville Municipal swimming pool. Officials said his action was undoubtedly the primary factor in saving the life of the Koeller boy.

According to officials, the certificate presented Fenn is given to persons who have performed a deed of extraordinary personal bravery.

$7,410 Bid Wins Contract for Seymour Excavation Project

Council Gives Job to Firm From Appleton

SEYMOUR — An excavation and rock removal contract of $7,410 for the city's most recently platted streets was awarded by the City Council Monday to Landwehr Inc., Appleton.

The $7,410 contract was a savings of more than $1,000 because the firm had agreed to cut its bid if awarded the paving and street excavation contract. The council earlier had awarded the company the paving job for streets in the area for $12,096.

The council set property assessment at $6 per foot of frontage on those parcels where rock removal is required and $4 on others. Payment of the assessment will be due Dec. 1.

Water and sewer laterals will be installed on Green and Kingsway streets despite earlier objections from Alvin Goffard, property owner. Goffard maintained that his lot would not be saleable and should therefore be omitted in the project.

After Permanent Street

Public Works Supt. Earl Grosse explained the cost of removing rock for installing a lateral after a permanent street was prepared would be prohibitive. Council members said they did not want to disrupt past policy.

Gosse reported a number of streets would be paved this week. They include Babbitt Street from Main to Lincoln and Foote Street east from Pearl. After grade work is finished other streets currently under construction will be surfaced.

The council authorized Gosse to obtain engineering assistance on a number of other streets so work on water, storm sewers and mains can be completed by the street department this fall.

Curb, gutter and permanent surfacing will be installed on the streets next year. They include Hickory Street from Ivory to Lee, Sally Street from Main to Lincoln, and Prairie Street from Short to Pearl.

Previously Completed

Engineering previously was completed on High Street from Main Street to Fulton Street. A new storm sewer will be installed on Hickory Street from Main to Ivory to replace an older outmoded section.

Drainage problems will be corrected in projects involving Green Street from Ivory to High and Short Street from Pearl to Prairie. A large open drainage ditch will be enclosed from Fulton Street east for 120 feet to provide new homes with access from E. Walnut Street.

Gosse is expected to bring cost estimates on the job to the next council meeting.

The city superintendent noted that if the city continues at its present rate of street improvement, the curb and gutter and new street program started on the older streets in 1953 will be completed by 1967 New street work will continue as other areas require it.

A survey will be made of street lighting within the city by the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. A report will be made at a future council meeting. The council has expressed a desire to switch from the present incandescent lamp lights to the newer mercury vapor type, which have been installed along the Main Street.

Visit Station Site

Mayor Ben Truymann said he and architect Jeff Nichols of Green Bay have visited the site of the planned fire station on Main Street and drawings are being prepared. Nichols will present them at a future council meeting.

The city recently purchased parcels of property owned by George Worsch and Elmer Krahn on N Main Street for a combined price of $17,000. The new station will replace the present fire hall, which is part of the city hall. No decision has been announced on its future status.

The council favored selling its West Pearl Street property except for the needed Grant Street right-of-way. It instructed acting City Atty. Vernon Lubinski to explore possible sale

Man Wrecks Jail, Pays $100 At Clintonville

James Strong Admits Misconduct, Damage To City Property

CLINTONVILLE — James Strong, 29, 75 Wilson St., Clintonville, was fined a total of $100 on three charges when he appeared in Municipal Justice Court Monday. He also was ordered to pay $20 for damages to the jail cell and the women's cell door and $670 court costs for a total of $126.70.

Strong pleaded guilty of disturbing the peace and was fined $25; disorderly conduct, $35; and destruction of city property, $50.

He was arrested Sunday night by Clintonville police when he created a disturbance at his residence. While in the city jail, he stuffed a blanket in the toilet and flooded the rear portion of the building, causing the floor to buckle. As a result the lock on the women's cell was ruined. Police said he also defaced the interior of the cell.

Two Winnebago Caseworkers Quit

OSHKOSH — Two Winnebago County Welfare Department caseworkers have resigned to take a position with the federal government, the director, Norman W. Wood, has announced.

Jerome Drake, 36, Main Line Drive, Oshkosh, was the supervisor in charge of the department's caseworkers. He had been in the department for 10 years and was state worker for last two years.

Thomas M. Wood, 36, a caseworker, was employed in the same position for 10 years. He was state worker, Whitford said.

All Teaching Posts Filled At Waupaca

Schools to Open Sept. 1; Grade Musician Hired

WAUPACA — All teaching positions have been filled and final preparations are being completed for schools in the Waupaca system to open Sept. 1, according to Supt. George Hendrickson. The final teaching position was filled last week with the hiring of Foster Diley as vocal and instrumental music teacher in the grade school. He fills the vacancy created with the resignation of Mrs. Marjorie Peot last month, Hendrickson said. Mrs. Diley is a member of the board of education. A special meeting will be called soon to accept her resignation and the appointment of a replacement on the seven-man board. Mrs. Diley has just completed the first year of a two-year term on the board.

Teacher Orientation

A teacher orientation program will be conducted Monday and Tuesday. The first day of school, Wednesday, will have a shortened schedule. Grade school pupils will be excused at 2:30 p.m. and high school students at 3:15 p.m. Regular classes will begin Thursday. The 79-member faculty, 50 from the elementary schools and 29 in the high school will include 15 new teachers. Eight of these will be in the grade school and the remainder in the high school. Mrs. Betty Zuege will teach a speech therapy three days a week. The school district has not had a speech therapist, submitted to the high school and Hendrickson said. Mrs. Roneal the board reserves the right to Oertor will teach first and second grade at Central School. The addition of another first and second grade teacher was needed because of the increased county's mentally retarded and enrollment in these grades, he said.

Other Teachers

Other new elementary and junior high teachers are: Miss Sandra Sippey, first grade at Central; Mrs. Nancy Krause, second grade at Riverside; Jerry Knoepfel, junior high science; Miss Margaret Daugherty, junior high school mathematics; Mrs. Jean Smith, junior high school English, and Diley as music instructor and Mrs. Zuege as the speech therapist. New high school teachers are Miss Beverly Braun, English; Miss Donna Georgeson, English; William Hopkins, algebra; Mrs. Patricia Jungers, girls physical education; James Merkel, advanced mathematics; Miss Mary Pearson, home economics; Miss Darleen Wagner, English and James Waznick, English.

Appleton's Value Hiked $4 Million

City's New Tax Base Now Stands At a Record $154,404,975

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton's 1965 assessed valuation is a record $154,404,975.

The annual report on the city's tax base was released today by Assessor John Pierre.

It represents a healthy increase of $4,166,450 over last year's valuation but is not up to expectation.

In 1964 Appleton led the entire Fox Valley with $15 million in new construction projects. This year, building in the city is off the pace by more than $6 million.

However, construction has been showing heavy gains in the areas surrounding the city, especially in the Town of Grand Chute where a $2.3 million in higher downtown valuation increase was reflected this year.

In 1964 Appleton's total valuation on personal and real estate property was $150,308,600, representing a gain of $5,195,025 over the previous year as the city rode the crest of an unparalleled building boom.

While assessment data is complicated to the average person, the increase registered this year is favorable when used as a yardstick in measuring the city's growth and economy.

However, Pierre is the first to admit that some caution signs have entered the local growth picture. While several industries have been expanding locally, commercial development in the central city has not kept pace.

The Second Ward, which includes a good share of the downtown business district, again led all city wards in valuation gains with a hike of $1,068,650.

Land and buildings in the Second Ward are listed on the roll with a $20,265,350 valuation.

New bank construction, coupled by the huge Aid Association for Lutherans addition, has resulted in the higher downtown valuation increase in recent years.

Grand Chute

Appleton is getting a good share of industrial expansion, and the future holds promise of considerably more, but the adjoining Town of Grand Chute city is denying the commercial development potential. So has the Town of Menasha, now engulfed in a major struggle with the City of Menasha over the latter's annexation plans.

The anxiety shared by some planners and those in government over the long-range future of the central business district is expected to be lessened somewhat once a final plan is submitted and approved for revamping the city's main business artery, College Avenue.

Losing Customers

Harland Bartholomew and Associates, the St. Louis firm preparing a comprehensive plan for the entire city (it includes a plan for rejuvenating the central business district) has indicated in preliminary reports that the downtown is expected to lose some customer potential to outlying commercial developments.

At the same time, consultants say there are many favorable indicators that those now located in the central business district are in the position to cope with the problem and hold customer loss to suburban commercial developments to a minimum.

Some central business districts, the planners have pointed out, are in a less fortunate position in other parts of the country.

Including that portion of Appleton located in Calumet Coun-

2,000 Troops Ask Duty in Viet Nam War

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—More than 2,000 American servicemen in Europe have asked to be sent to the Viet Nam war, a spokesman at the U.S. Army's European headquarters said today.

He reported that 500 applications from volunteers had been approved, but he could not say whether any men were being drafted from Europe to Viet Nam.

"There might be a few," he said.

The men who go to Viet Nam will be replaced from the United States or from some short-tour area, the spokesman said.

He was unable to say how many servicemen had left Europe or were awaiting departure.

Air Pollution Test Begun By Appleton, State Officials

Health Commissioner to Plot Control Program During Meeting

Tests are being made over a 45-day period to determine whether Appleton residents are breathing polluted air.

The disclosure was made today in the monthly report of Dr. James Laird, the city's health commissioner.

Air Program

When the board of health holds its regular meeting Wednesday morning at the city hall, Dr. Laird is expected to outline a proposed air pollution control program for Appleton.

Ald. John Ayers (12th), a board member, has been pushing for an air pollution ordinance for the city to eliminate or control what he has termed "questionable conditions" in scattered sectors of the city.

ty, Pierre listed land valuation at $35,362,700; improvements at $102,999,725; and personal property, $16,102,550.

Real estate showed a $4,004,350 increase in valuation while personal property values gained $162,100 over 1964.

Leading the personal property valuation is manufacturers' stocks listed at $6,763,950, followed by merchants' stocks, $5,406,775. Furniture, fixtures and other equipment had a $2,880,250 valuation while machinery, tools and patterns totaled $975,300.

Indicative of Appleton's prospering position is the disclosure by Pierre that during the past 15 years, 1950 through 1965, the city's assessed valuation jumped $87,746,700, more than doubling.

It averages out to about a $5.8 million annual boost in the city's valuation since 1950.

Lowest Since 1959

A look at the other side of the coin shows, however, that this year's $4.1 million increase is the lowest since 1959 when the boost in valuation amounted to $2,884,100. What happened the following year was short of phenomenal when the valuation skyrocketed $8.8 million.

The 1964 gross rate—before deducting the $3.50 credit refund—was $50.06 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

of city officials and other interested individuals from industry and business, Dr. Laird said.

In the vital statistics department for July, Dr. Laird reported the city had:

- 127 births, including 54 which were non-residents.
- 40 deaths reported with heart disease (15 cases) and cancer (7) being the main causes of death.
- 102 cases of chicken pox and 39 measles.

3 From Manawa Hurt in Crash

Three persons were injured Monday in a two-car accident at U.S. 41 and Spencer Road today.

Taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service were Mrs. Margaret Fahner, 36, route 2, Manawa, with a cut chin and arm injuries, her daughter Jill, 13, and a daughter, Joy 8, and formulation of an air hand and leg cuts.

Details of the accident were not available.

Lutheran Church To be Established

Prince of Peace Congregation Locates in Southeast Appleton

A new congregation, Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, will be established in southeast Appleton in September, according to the Rev. Theodore A. Ohlrogge, D.D., Appleton, president of the Northern Wisconsin District of The American Lutheran Church.

The first church unit, which has already been built on a five-acre site, is at 2330 E. Calumet St., next to the site of the new proposed Appleton East High School.

It includes the main church, Sunday school section, pastor's study, office, and kitchen.

Final Details

The final details of the church, which include the making of chancel furniture, tiling of floors, painting walls, and landscaping, will be done by family worship service is scheduled for Oct. 10.

Future construction includes additional parish education facilities and a final sanctuary.

The pastor of the congregation to be will be the Rev. Gerhard Brethheim, Williston, N.D. Prior to his seven-year ministry at Williston he served parishes at LaPorte, Minn. and Pembina, N. D. A graduate of Augsburg College and Augsburg Seminary in Minneapolis, he was ordained in 1951.

In the coming week, Miss Marilyn Rossing, American Missions parish worker, will arrive in Appleton on approximately Sept. 15. The first family worship service is scheduled for Oct. 10.

Gen. Taylor, Rusk Address Legion Parley

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Addresses by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and retiring U.S. Ambassador to Viet Nam Gen. Maxwell Taylor highlight today's activities at the national American Legion convention.

Both speak at the opening of the convention's general business sessions.

Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., addresses the national commander's dinner tonight.

The legion will confer distinguished service medals upon the late Herbert Hoover and former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes at a noon ceremony.

Herbert Hoover Jr. will accept the award on behalf of the late president. Byrnes, also a former governor of South Carolina, is in Portland.

Other recipients of the honor include Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, John F. Kennedy and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At the legion parade Monday through downtown Portland, some 10,000 persons participated in a five-hour procession past some 75,000 spectators.

Oshkosh Files Brief in Port Court Battle

OSHKOSH — The best chance to develop improved airline service for the Appleton-Oshkosh area would be to designate the Winnebago County Airport as the regional airport for the Central Fox Valley, according to Winnebago County in a brief to the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Outagamie County began action against the Civil Aeronautics Board's decision to name Winnebago County Airport as the regional port recently, and Winnebago County prepared the study in its defense which was served Friday on parties to the court case by Counsel Jack Steinhilber.

"The decision of the board will improve air service to the entire Lake Winnebago area, Appleton included," Steinhilber, stated in the brief. "Practically speaking, the Winnebago Airport has been the de facto regional airport since the inauguration of airline service by North Central in 1948," he added.

The decision of the board, he continued, was not made as a question of "retention or removal of service to anyone, but rather how could the best service be rendered to all the cities in the area."

restrictions in the commercially-zoned property.

Mayor Truymen indicated that he had been approached by a business representative about possible purchase. Since the city has purchased the Main Street property for the fire hall it no longer requires the Pearl Street tract.

New Second Ward Ald. Robert Kahlhofer, appointed by Mayor Truymen to fill the unexpired term of Maynard Mott who moved from the ward, was named to the same six council committees which Mott served.

However, some of the chairmanships have been changed.

Streets and Bridges

Kahlhofer was named to the streets and bridges committee with Ald. Earl Eick as chairman, the welfare group with Ald. Elmer Seidl as chairman, water mains and sewers committee with Ald. Earl Eick as chairman, and the judiciary, fire and police, and industry units.

City Clerk Josephine Manno announced that the city's share of the school district's levy is $149,042.06, which is $4,576.70 more than a year ago. It amounts to less than $1 on the city tax rate.

The council authorized 97 feet of curb and gutter on the east side of Ivory Street on the Herbert Wendt property. Wendt, owner of a drive-in restaurant, plans to construct a new enlarged facility on a blacktopped lot.

J. N. Daul Construction Co. of Kaukauna, which earlier completed curb and gutter work in the city, is expected to return on another project and include the Ivory Street job.

Big Shoe Stores Have New Name-Shiff Shoes

The Big Shoe Store in Appleton is among 700 Big Shoe store outlets in 40 states which had their names changed to Schiff Shoes.

Thirty-one stores in Wisconsin are affected by the change, which honors Robert W. Schiff, chairman of the parent company, Shoe Corporation of America.

Company officials said the change will not affect merchandizing, personnel or operation of the company.

assessments are $2,647,350 compared with $1,977,450 last year.

They are:

- Cattle — $100 ($500); swine — $150 the same as last year; all other livestock — $355, the same as last year.
- merchants' stock — $511,100 ($343,300); manufacturers' stock — $1,380,000 ($1,013,700); machinery, tools and patterns — $392,650 ($309,175); furniture, pictures and equipment — $291,525 ($278,175); and all other personal property — $71,450 ($6,450).

The reason for the sharp decline in other personal property is the transfer into real property of items formerly classified as personal property.

Tantrums Send Mother of Tot Into Tears of Her Own

BY DR. EVE JONES
Dear Dr. Jones: My daughter is 21 months old and she has just started temper tantrums. They scare me and I want to know if tantrums are normal for that age.
She doesn't have a temper for a few things. It's for almost everything. She kicks and squirms to get out of my arms, have tried putting her to bed. I say it's time to get dressed. She kicks to get out of not spanking. The high chair after she takes a few bites of food. She lies down and throws her head back and doing something wrong. I blame myself that I must be screaming if her brother picks up people tell me it's just her personality and I'll just have to live with it. But I spend many control. So stop the spankings. I have tried spanking her. I hours crying because I want her to be such a nice little girl. So please help me to handle her. just saying, Mrs. G. Y.
If you sincerely want to help her tantrums is to eliminate the pressures that are sending her into a tizzy. Stop insisting that she sit still in her high chair and eat everything in front of

The Kellett Committee

We have been impressed by the detached and objective approach of the so-called Kellett task force which has been scrutinizing state government business management operations during recent months at the request of Gov. Knowles who directed it to "let the chips fall where they may."

Named after its leader, William R. Kellett of Neenah, the committee which has had the services of about 70 specialists of varying categories in leading Wisconsin private business corporations has begun the publication of a series of reports on its findings and recommendations, after working with deliberate anonymity since early in the year.

This is the kind of project that often, in the unfortunate pressures of politics, degenerates into publicity seeking hoopla. But this group has conscientiously avoided such bypaths — if, indeed, the possibility occurred to it at all—in the evident conviction that its work would stand or fall, be useful or ignored, on its literal merits.

Most of the recommendations involve the technical matters of operating huge public services in an era when government as well as private enterprise must learn the better processes made available by an exploding technology. A sidelight of the first report of the committee, for example, was the calm forecast that the day will soon arrive when office auditing of hundreds of thousands of state tax returns will be performed by electronic machines

The Political Opinions of Forum Writers

A political science team from the University of Michigan published The American Voter based on a study of various characteristics of voters in 1952 and 1956. Three of the political scientists have now written the results of a more limited survey of voters in 1964 for the American Political Science Review. Specifically the survey dealt with the political points of view of those who wrote letters to the editors.

Although we tend to look with some skepticism on surveys in general as often representing too small a percentage of the population or confusing the questions, the survey conducted by the Michigan men seems to have been carefully worked out. The results indicated that an overwhelming number of frequent letter writers to newspapers or other publications were conservatives and even more specifically the far right.

About 1400 adult voters were contacted in various types of vocation and education. Only some 15 per cent ever wrote letters-to-the-editor and only 3 per cent contributed more than two-thirds of all the letters. On political subjects, the figures were even smaller so that only about one-half of one per cent wrote the great majority of letters on political subjects.

The interviewers found that three-fourths of the general voters saw themselves as middle-of-the-roads with small groups either far right or far left. But among the frequent letter writers, the great majority classed themselves as conservatives. On a question about whether the Federal government has too much power, the general voters divided almost equally to a third in the affirmative, a third negatively and a third not knowing. But among letter writers, three-fourths agreed that the Federal government was getting too much power. Republicans and independents in general had a large bloc which were opposed to Senator Goldwater's nomination although about one-third were in favor. But the overwhelming majority of letter writers favored the Goldwater nomination. And while queries last September of the general voters found them in favor of Lyndon Johnson in just about the same percentages as the November vote, the letter writers favored Goldwater over Johnson by 40 per cent.

It is doubtful, as the survey authors speculate, that the letters really had much influence in the nomination of Senator Goldwater. The nomination was virtually sewed up by a small group of conservatives led by Clifton White through the careful, state-by-state organization of delegate strength to the convention and the failure of anti-Goldwater Republicans to get together on a candidate. The persuasion of candidates that Goldwater could win may have been made easier by the letters of course.

But of even greater interest is the inevitable question as to why conservatives, especially those on the far right, do tend to write political letters more than the general adult population. Are they more literate or find more expression through writing? Do they have more interest in seeing their points of view in print or consider publication the best means of winning converts? Or is letter writing an outlet for some amount of frustration in dealing with the world in the middle of the 20th Century? Perhaps there are elements of all these reasons but one thing seems apparent in the 1964 campaign: the average voter who never takes pen in hand to voice his political opinions apparently is not won over to any other point of view by the letters.

None of this means any sort of an open break or an encouragement of Western views. But the North Koreans appear to be seeking closer ties with the Soviet Union for several reasons. They don't want to be considered as completely in the Chinese camp in the ideological split between the two Red countries since China is becoming increasingly absorbed with the problems of the North Vietnamese — and might want some military volunteers from North Korea. And economic assistance is a lot more readily available from the Soviet Union.

North Korea is in much the same stage of revolution as Red China but its gradual turning toward the Soviet Union indicates that it feels the need of faster economic advances, perhaps because of gains made in South Korea. The various failures of the Red Chinese to fulfill their intended achievements may have also influenced the North Koreans.

Red Split Shows Up in North Korea

The Communists, in claiming to represent the opinions of the people under their control, must work gradually when points of view are to be changed. Observers are noting some changes in attitude among North Koreans that appear to be minor but may represent something much more important.

The ties to Peking have been slightly weakened and those to the Soviet Union improved. The latter sent a delegation of high ranking officers to recent North Korean celebrations marking the 20th anniversary of the end of Japanese rule. Chinese newspapers seldom mention North Korea. Notes which spoke of "brilliant leadership" of the Korean Communist Party more recently say only "leadership" and all reference to the "correct Marxist-Leninist revolutionary line" have been omitted. Last year the Chinese foreign minister attended a North Korean embassy function; this year nobody was sent.

Problems Simple 50 Years Ago

Fifty years have passed since 16 Detroit businessmen met to organize a service club which has grown into the 270,000-member Kiwanis International with clubs in all 50 states and 15 foreign countries. Harry A. Young, 83, a retired tailor, is the sole survivor of the founding group. He recently recalled how people felt back in those days and how easy things are for people today.

"Problems those days were simple," he said. "We didn't have much and we didn't expect much. We used to talk about the people who wanted to keep up with the Joneses. Well, now the poorest folks on welfare want to keep up with Rockefeller and Ford. I fail to see anything good in that."

Taking a dim view of government competition with service clubs in the welfare field, Young feels the poor are coddled so much now they can't do much for themselves. Especially, he dislikes "fringe benefits" which he thinks are making success impossible for the small business man.

The world may have changed in the past 50 years but the people haven't much. They can still respond to challenge, when they have to. But they're learning, it seems, to expect more and more for producing less and less.

Take those steelworkers who have enough seniority to qualify for 13 weeks of vacation a year. It's a mystery to many people how they can, in good conscience, accept full pay for 13 weeks of doing absolutely nothing.

stand for a referendum on the issue of appointive versus elective status for the four primary administrative officers in our city government. At that time my stand was based on the "means" being used—in the very exclusion of the "end" result to be obtained.

Now that this matter is properly before the people in referendum form, the question rightfully becomes, how should we vote?

My personal conviction on this matter has remained unchanged since the matter first came up—and that is that all four positions, city clerk, attorney, treasurer and assessor should be appointed.

Why? There are several reasons that have led to this belief.

First: The taxpayers get the best possible administrators in the long run. The best, potentially qualified men or women can be placed in these posts. This in no way infers that we do not now have completely qualified personnel serving in these capacities.

Second: The community is growing very rapidly, and this in turn requires an operating organization of maximum effectiveness if the taxpayers are to get the most for their dollar. Making these posts appointive provides the Mayor and the Council—not with "power" as some would be wont to think, but with the authority to best carry out their respective responsibilities to the taxpayers.

Third: With these posts (which are administrative and not policy making) appointive, a greater degree of organizational continuity would be realized in the event of major changes in the makeup of Mayor and the Council. The voters still retain control of their city operation through their votes for Mayor and Aldermen—for it is here that policy is set.

Fourth: This change places more squarely on the shoulders of the Mayor and the Aldermen the public charge of providing leadership for the community. The Mayor and the Council must be prepared to back up the appointed officials and cannot "pass the buck" back to the voters in the event of internal problems. If they do not the public can be heard on election day.

In summary, I base my belief on (1) better administrators, (2) better government, (3) placing responsibility for leadership in sharper focus. In other words, a better Appleton in the long run.

Tribute to Doc Swanton From Kimberly Family

Editor, Post-Crescent: This family, which has been under Dr. Swanton's care whenever we needed care for many years, would like to express our deep sympathy to his family. Our own personal sorrow will be shared by many families who have loved him as more than a physician. We thank God for him, and for the years we had his warm understanding and reassurance. His gentleness and the (often needed) confidence, the extra time and effort he gave us, made us feel he really cared about us.

"Doc" wasn't of the school of specialists, as we think of them in medical terms, but he was a specialist in sharing kind words and in putting us at ease, whether in the delivery room, hospital room, his little upstairs office or the new spacious clinic. There aren't many like him around anymore, but perhaps his example can be followed by fellow workers and by ourselves. Those who worked side by side with this quiet mannered, bustling, pleasant doctor will miss him; his sons, of whom he was so proud and their families and all of us who loved him dearly as our Doc Swanton will miss him. We will pray that God gives him all the peace and contentment he deserves; and perhaps we can ask that it will be like a day off, on a fishing or hunting trip.

Testimonial Dinners For Office Holders Accepted in Politics

BY JOHN WYNGAARD MADISON—It is one of the contradictions of contemporary politics that its practitioners are required to be resourceful and imaginative and nimble to survive in their intensely competitive environment. Yet as a class they are standpaters with regard to the fundamentals of their craft.

Wyngaard

Thus it can be said with fair accuracy that the only truly new idea in campaign planning and financing during this reporter's lifetime of close observation of the Wisconsin political theater has been the money-raising testimonial dinner for the party, and more lately, for the candidate.

Just about everything else the politician of today does his grandfather was doing also, with allowances for some of the accommodations to environmental changes. Nowadays the airplane has replaced the campaign train, the television spots have supplanted the oration in the opera house, and the handshake at the plant gate is the modern-day equivalent for baby-kissing on the village square on market day.

THE MONEY DINNER The fund raising dinner, moreover, has been such a brilliantly successful device for meeting the frighteningly heavy costs of modern day campaigning that it has astonished even its inventors.

Twenty years ago the ambitious Wisconsin politician who wanted to run for governor, even with the far more modest budget requirements of those times, faced an awkward problem in arranging the financing.

He could either manage affairs in such a way as to wink at the meaning of the election expenditure laws—and in the absence of enforcement, then as now, no realist can doubt that there was some winking—or he could ask friends to shell out to support his cause.

For many sensitive and proud men that was degrading. There was a tendency to depend upon a comparatively few well-wishers and well-heeled supporters, and especially in the minority parties which had indifferent prospects of victory. If some of those "angels" expected their rewards after the victory, nobody should have been startled.

The fund-raising dinner, which has been far more lucrative than anyone could have imagined, has evidently opened many purses that were tightly closed before. Even making allowances for present prosperity and the larger numbers of comparatively affluent persons today, it has been demonstrated that there are hundreds of persons who will buy tickets for themselves and their wives to attend a fancy dinner in a city hotel ballroom, who would indifferently close the door upon a solicitor who asked for $100 as a cash donation to a politician's campaign. A good dinner, a handshake with the mighty, and a trip to town are evidently more attractive to the prospective contributor than the unsentimental cash solicitation.

SPREADING THE BURDEN There are the fastidious who will note also that the money-raising dinner is an acceptable device to tap the beneficiaries of the political system, such as job-holders, in a state where there might be a clamor against outright cash demands from such sources. Who can object if a postmaster wants to pay a tribute to a party leader, or if a state agency head chooses to attend an affair honoring his boss the governor? If in an expense account society there are private businessmen writing off such items, as tax deductions or otherwise, probably there are few persons who will be surprised.

In a generous view, the testimonial dinner for the politician may be defended as a means of democratizing the burden of campaign costs and avoiding excessive reliance upon a few special interest contributors who may want recompense from office-holders afterward. In any event, the expensive political dinners appear to be here to stay, as one of the genuine innovations of the times in the craft of politics.

How Can We Parents Make Child Better?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS When one of my daughters returned from camp, she asked me, in a tone of puzzled sadness, why I had not printed in my column some of the poems she had written and mailed to me during the summer.

Harris

I mumbled some embarrassed evasion about their length and the problem of deadlines, but she was not fooled. She knew I did not intend to use them, and, as I had sincerely complimented her on their quality, she could not comprehend my refusal to put them in the paper.

What we frequently fail to recognize as parents is that children cannot understand the real difference between the world of the adult and the world of the child. It would be useful to say to her, "These are fine poems for a girl of your age, but they don't yet meet adult requirements."

To a child, if a poem is good, it is good, no matter at what age it is written, if parents praise a drawing of a dog or a flower, the child expects the drawing to be exhibited along with the other masters of the graphic arts.

A child's poetry or story-writing or piano-playing are the spontaneous outlets of imagination, but they are also something more. They say to the parents, in effect, "I can do what you can do, and I demand to be judged on the same basis, not just as a child."

Every mother is quickly aware of her young daughter's imitation — but she is not generally aware that this is a form of competition. When the daughter plays with dolls and dresses up in mama's old clothes, she is making a bid for recognition and responsibility that is much more serious and profound than merely "make-believe."

We have come to learn, in recent years, that our feelings even toward those dearest to us are a mixture of affection and resentment; but we still resist acknowledging that our children possess the same mixed feelings toward us; that such feelings are quite natural, and that the child must not be made to feel guilty for having them.

This is one of the hardest tasks of being a parent: to accept the fact that we are not always loved. And when the child insists that its poetry, or its pretensions of any kind, be given mature respect and status, we can only answer with a transparent tact which seems the most appalling hypocrisy to the child's clear and candid mind.

At times like these, one is tempted to agree with Plato that distressingly few of us are genuinely equipped for the most important and demanding job in the world, making our offspring better than we are.

ONLY DODGE HAS V8 POWER IN A COMPACT TRUCK

Add to this such practical niceties as very big doors, very flat floors, a very big cargo space (213 cubic feet), and a very low price (right down with Ford's and Chevy's)—and you've got some very good reasons for putting some Dodge compact trucks on your payroll. (Choice of V8 or two husky Sixes.) Dodge toughness doesn't cost any more... why settle for less?

Steel Contract Deadlock Stands

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An apparent deadlock in steel contract talks remained unbroken today with eight days left before the United Steelworkers Union is free to strike.

Top-level negotiators for the union and 10 major basic steel firms met for 1 1/2 hours Monday with both sides reportedly holding fast to their bargaining positions.

The USW threatens to call out some 450,000 members in the nation's steel mills Sept. 1 if no agreement is reached.
